ARLINGTON HEIGHTS CENTER OF SEVERE 2-DAY STORM

Orval Baldwin killed as car skids, turns over

Orval M. Baldwin, 44, former owner of Webber Paint Co., Arlington Heights, was killed Friday night when his car skidded and overturned on McCullom Lake rd., southeast of McHenry.

The accident occurred around midnight and was discovered shortly after by a passing motorist who reported a wrecked car near the side of the road. Baldwin suffered a broken neck and severe head injuries. He was dead when examined by Deputies Howard Cairns and Donald Dexheimer, who were sent out to investigate.

MR. BALDWIN had been visiting in Arlington Heights at the home of Leslie Grant, after driving his daugnter, Jean, here, to catch a train for Florida, where she was to spend a month's vacation. According to Mrs. Grant he started home about 11:30 p. m. He remarked to the Grants that he dreaded the long drive home as he was so awfully tired. The Grants invited him to stay overnight, but he declined.

Baldwin is believed to have lost control of his car on the frosty pavement. It skidded and rolled over several times. The doors were torn off and the top was crushed. His body was found in the wreckage of the auto.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death at an inquest held at the Peter M. Justen funeral home in McHenry Saturday morning.

The Baldwins left Arlington Heights for their new home in Hunterville Park, northeast of McHenry, last September. He sold his paint business nearly three years ago due to ill health.

At one time Mr. Baldwin was chairman of the Troop Committee, of Troop 7 Boy Scouts in Arlington Heights. He was one of the first pitchers when softball teams were formed in Arlington. It is said he was one of the few persons who could take an adverse decision of an umpire with a smile.

He was a member of the Arlington Heights Planning Committee until he moved. He also headed a number of local civic fund drives.

Funeral services were held Tuesday from Black's Memorial Home, Arlington Heights, with interment in Ridgewood. He is survived by his wife, Daisy; and three children, Lloyd, Jean, and Craig.

Mrs. A. D. Hines injured

Another former Arlington Heights resident, Mrs. A. D. Hines, was injured February 6 in an auto accident on Rand rd. near Rt. 58.

She and Mr. Hines were headed for their daughter, Mrs. Alan Reinshagen's home in Chicago, when their auto rammed into another parked without lights on the highway.

Mrs. Hines was taken to the Northwestern hospital, Des Plaines, where she was treated for a severe cut on her head. She was later taken to her daughter's home. Mr. Hines and the driver of the other car were not hurt. Damage to the Hines' car amounted to $700.

Mr. and Mrs. Hines now live in Graybill, Ind., just out of Ft. Wayne, where Mr. Hines works for the Magnavox Co.

Chamber of Commerce plans active year

The new board of directors of Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce met Monday evening and special committees are being selected to handle various activities during the coming months.

The chamber as the central clearing house for those things that will make Arlington a recognized trading center, exjects to head a progressive program, which, if supported by the individual business men, will do a good selling job to the general public.

The annual dinner of the CC will be held February 27, at which the officers will outline their immediate plans and members will have the opportunity to give suggestions.

Henry Kehe returns to Arlington Heights

Henry Kehe, of the firm of Krause and Kehe, is again a resident of Arlington Heights where he spent his boyhood. He moved last week from Des Plaines where he has lived 32 years to a home he had erected at Rolling Lane and Euclid ave., adjoining Rolling Green Country Club.

Henry has an acre and a half of land, but its care will not take too much labor because a large part of it is woods. His place overlooks the golf course.

Mr. Kehe was a Des Plaines alderman two terms and frequently served that community in civic positions.

"I am now a rural resident," says Henry, "and not eligible for any municipal job." His friends think that he moved to the country to get away from extra-curricular activities. Anyway, Arlington Heights is glad to welcome him back home.

Barrington pastor to speak at World Day of Prayer February 24

Rev. Harold Wilke, pastor of the St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church of Crystal Lake, will be the speaker for the World Day of Prayer Service to be held Friday, February 24, at 2 o'clock at the Methodist Meeting House, Arlington Heights.

Rev. Wilke has studied at the University of Missouri, University of Chicago, Eden Theological Seminary, Union Seminary in New York and Howard university in Massachusetts.

During his ministry he has been at The Chapel in Columbia, Mo. ministering to wounded in Army Hospitals during the war and Chaplain Veterans Hospital, Topeka, Kansas, for the past four years. Since September he has been at the church in Crystal Lake.

He has written a number of articles on rehabilitation and is author of a book, "Greet the Man."

He is married and has two sons.

Cub Scout father and son banquet Tuesday

A father and son banquet, sponsored by the Cub Scouts of Arlington Heights, will be held next Tuesday, at 6:30 p. m. at the First Methodist church.

Boys of Cub age, who are not Cubs, and their dads are extended an invitation to attend. Tickets can be obtained from any den dad.

This annual affair promises to be full of fun, entertainment and good food, and is one of the Cubbing events no one should miss.

Cub Scouts are reminded not to forget to feed the birds this winter. The present ice and snow makes it almost impossible for birds to get food.

Death takes John Allen, well known Arlington Heights civic leader

The remains of John Allen, Arlington Heights civic leader, were laid to rest Monday in Arlington Heights cemetery of which he had been secretary and treasurer 17 years.

Although a comparatively young man he had a full lifetime of active experience that included, in addition to his trade as a cabinet maker and builder, the treasurership of Arlington Heights Presbyterian church, membership on a number of municipal boards and in addition to performing those duties took an active interest in community affairs. He might be called a community "watch dog." He strongly opposed those things that he thought would be detrimental to his home town and as strongly endorsed progressive planning.

He had been a member of the planning commission, the zoning board and zoning board of appeals.

His work in the Presbyterian church included Sunday School teacher, Sunday School superintendent, choir director, church trustee and treasurer. He was particularly active at the time the parish hall was constructed, directing the contracts and handling the financial problems that arose during the depression years.

Due to failing health he had to retire about a year ago from active participation in many of these matters, but it was only a month ago that he resigned from the cemetery association.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Presbyterian church, Rev. C. V. Brown officiating. Obituary appears in this issue.

$50,000 damage to Mt. Prospect trees, says Klopp

Monday's storm took heavy toll of the trees in Mt. Prospect. About one-tenth suffered bad breakage. An 18-inch tree is valued at $1000, and between fifty and sixty of these in the village were completely damaged and will have to be cut down.

Independent surveys made Tuesday by Trustee Russell Hartwig and Harold O. Klopp landscape architect, indicated the village tree trimming program paid off, in that the trees which had been cared for generally came through with less breakage.

Village employees worked through most of the night Monday and were back on the job early Tuesday clearing the branches and operating snow plows. Snowfall Tuesday night added to their problems. Police and water department employees worked along with the street department men.

At 301 South Albert street a tree falling across an electric wire yanked the service wires right out of the house. Live wires were down throughout the town. Police barricaded streets and placed flares to warn motorists of broken wires or fallen limbs.

One accident resulted from the traffic lights at Main and Northwest highway being out about midnite Monday. When George Sheets, 1226 N. Mitchell, Arlington Heights, cautiously stopped for the Main street crossing, the car behind, driven by Robert Haynes, also of Arlington, slid into him.

Charge death of Lake Zurich man to crowded train

An overcrowded Chicago and Northwestern train was believed to be the cause for the death of Donald Eugene Price, 44, of Rt. 22, Barrington. An inquest will be held March 8.

He boarded the 5:45 p. m. train in Chicago for Barrington last week, Wednesday. Because of the rush hour he probably stood on the rear platform, where he lost his balance and fell, and was struck by another train. He was pronounced dead upon arrival at Belmont hospital.

Mr. Price was employed by the Chicago post office, for which he drove a mail truck for 25 years.

He leaves his wife, Agnes; two sons, Don Jr., 14, and Richard, 13; his father, William, of Michigan; two brothers and one sister. Funeral services were held Saturday at St. Peter church, Lake Zurich.

Sheriffs suspended for shaking down Schiller Park tavern keeper

Three deputy sheriffs assigned to the Milwaukee ave. station were suspended Tuesday by Sheriff Elmer Michael Walsh for shaking down a Schiller Park tavern keeper for $50.

Two of the men, according to Walsh, admitted the charge of the tavern keeper, George Kanavas, owner of the Bright Star tavern, at Irving Park rd. and River rd., Schiller Park. Kanavas' story was that January 30 the two deputies had found two slot machines in the tavern. They asked for $100 to keep quiet about it. Kanavas finally gave them $50, which a third deputy received a part of.

An investigation was made following Kanavas' complaint of the shakedown.

When details of the event were brought out Sheriff Walsh said, "We will not tolerate such men on the force. This is very serious."

Cars, dogs must have city tags by March 1

Effective March 1 citizens of Arlington Heights will be given tickets by the police department if they have not purchased village tags for their autos or dogs.

These tags, according to a village ordinance, must be displayed on car windshields, and dogs must wear their licenses. Violators of same, though having purchased the tags, will also be issued tickets.

The licenses may be obtained at the Arlington Heights village hall.

Storm wrecks Arlington's famous elms

Frances Yeend to sing here February 26

The heading in last week's issue erroneously read that the Community Concert membership campaign would be held March 11-16. It should have read March 6-11.

The third concert of the Arlington Heights Community Concert season will be held in the Arlington Heights high school Sunday, February 26, at 8:15 p. m.

Miss Frances Yeend, one of the brightest new stars in the musical field, will be the artist.

Frances Yeend was born in Vancouver, Washington; she received her education in Portland, Oregon and at Washington State college in Pullman. Concert opera, oratorio and dramatic appearances throughout the Northwest prepared her for her future career.

At an almost precipitous pace, her activities of four seasons have moved the artist to a position of eminence. The list of conductors under whose batons she has appeared as soloist with symphony orchestras is an illustrious one: Ormandy, Stokowski, Mitropoulos, Busch and many others.

Her radio appearances have been great in number: A solo spot on Phil Spitalny's All-Girl "Hour of Charm," Cities Service "Highways in Melody," and International Harvester's "Harvest of Stars."

It is therefore with great delight that members of the Community Concert Association look forward to the appearance of Frances Yeend.

Here will be an evening of scintillating music produced by this beautiful young artist.

Six injured on way to burial of Lewis Moomaw at Sac City, Iowa

Six relatives on the way to Sac City, Iowa, for the burial of Lewis Moomaw, were seriously injured near Ackley, Iowa, early Friday morning when a semi-trailer going in the opposite direction "jack-knifed." All were taken to the hospital at Waterloo, Iowa, 36 miles from the scene of the accident.

Mrs. Paul Hildebrandt, Palatine, sister of the deceased, has a broken arm and bruises; her daughter, Mrs. Donald Leibert, Dundee, a broken knee cap; Donald Hine, Chicago, a broken knee cap; and Mrs. Hine escaped with bruises.

Other passengers in the car were Mr. and Mrs. Virgi Kelso, Des Plaines. Mrs. Kelzo has a broken rib, fractured knee cap, and a cracked chestbone. Her husband escaped with bruises. The car was a complete wreck.

Mrs. Drewes and Mrs. Moomaw had taken a night train and did not learn of the accident until arrival at Sac City.

Burglars smash safe at Arlington

Skoog Photo

Burglars broke into the safe of the Hummel and Downing Co. of Arlington Heights last Thursday night, February 9, and took approximately $50.

F. S. Hintz, assistant plant manager, said that the safe was a total loss. He estimated the value of the safe at $450.

ONE OF THE burglars broke in through the employees entrance and then admitted his partner through a window in the front of the building.

Police Chief Carl H. Skoog who is investigating the matter, said that he believes there were two men who made the entry. Also, from the footprints left by the men in soft dirt under the windows, Chief Skoog said they were big, heavy men.

The robbers smashed holes in the door and side of the safe by using a sledge hammer, a two-foot wrench and other tools owned by the company. They then opened a small cash box by prying the lid off.

A calculating machine was also damaged by the robbers.

THE BURGLARY was discovered by Robert Hardcastle, Arlington Heights, a plating foreman for the company, when he reported for work Friday morning.

Electric service crippled; many homes without heat, and water

This week's storm toll was more severely felt in Arlington Heights than many other communities. Barrington and points west and north escaped the brunt of the storm. Thawing temperature relieved the situation in communities a little further south.

In the Arlington area the Public Service Co. used every available lineman, groundman and others, as helpers who knew little about the work.

St. James Catholic school in Arlington Heights was forced to close its doors for two days. The building is heated by an electrically controlled stoker. Power failed at 7 p. m. Monday and was not repaired until 2:30 p. m. Tuesday. Classes were resumed today, Thursday.

A phone call as this paper goes to press was received from a patron of the Public Service Co. asking that some appreciation be published for the herculean efforts put forth by the employees of that company to bring relief to the suffering householders.

While the average autoist was having trouble to pick his way over roads on which were fallen trees, limbs and frequently telephone and high tension electric wires, the housekeepers were faced with far more trouble.

MANY PLACES were without water because of power failure: more could not cook a meal at home because they depended exclusively on electric stoves. Those whose heating plants became inoperative due to power failure were the worse sufferers.

Power went off in some parts of Arlington Monday morning and two days later there was still no relief.

The Public Service Co. of this area received between 7,000 and 8,000 calls during the three days. The company had a thousand employees working as many as 24 hours without a stop for sleep.

'In the 37 years that I have been with the Public Service Company, I have never seen anything like it," Supt. Martin Schreiber told a reporter Wednesday.

Parts of the south and the eastern part of Palatine were out of electric service two days. Sections of the village area were equally as hard hit. Candles and oil lamps were pressed into service and many streets were without lights.

THE ONLY ANSWER that could be usually given to the indignant patrons who called the company by phone, was "we are not surprised; we are doing everything possible to get relief at the earliest possible moment. The answer was not very satisfying to mothers with young babies.

Fathers came home to cold dinners and local restaurants reported record business as dads took their families down town for at least one warm meal.

Arlington Heights police radio station was not out of operation at any time, enabling Arlington Heights and Palatine police officers to report dangerous wires promptly to the Public Service Co. which kept in almost constant touch with the police departments.

Officers blocking off vehicle traffic as a safety measure never had to wait long before linemen were on the job.

ILLINOIS BELL Telephone Co. troubles were not as great as those of the companion company but just as many wires were down. Lack of power and light were considered by patrons as more important than inability to use the phone.

William Lathen, district telephone manager reports that at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning the score was:

Arlington Heights exchange—84 lines out of service with 353 customers without phones.

Palatine exchange—39 lines out with 202 customers without service.

The increasing use of cable "saved" many phones, but the iron rural lines were particularly susceptible to trouble.

POLICE OFFICERS and street employees were kept almost as busy as employees of the public utilities. They answered as fast as possible reports of fallen trees and limbs.

Arlington officers report that the average autoist drove carefully and there were no major accidents in Arlington because of the storm.

Raymond J. Becker, supt. of the street department and his men did valiant work. Monday was spent plowing snow with three trucks. They worked that evening until midnight. Tuesday morning they found a full day's job before them in clearing roads and sidewalks of falling trees and limbs. "Once-over" was not sufficient as more and more limbs fell.

TUESDAY NIGHT five men with four pieces of equipment worked until morning clearing the business district of snow. Mr. Becker reports that he found the general public appreciative of the efforts his department made to get "passage-way" for autos and pedestrians. Limbs in contact with electric wires were not touched by village employees.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 19, will be:

"MIND"

The Golden Text is:

"The Lord is exalted; for he dwelleth on high: he hath filled Zion with judgment and righteousness. And wisdom and knowledge shall be the stability of thy times, and strength of salvation" (Isa. 33: 5, 6).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon the following are from the Bible:

"O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out! . . . For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever. Amen" (Rom. 11: 33, 36).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:

"There can be but one Mind, because there is but one God; and if mortals claimed no other Mind and accepted no other, sin would be unknown . . . Divine Science explains the abstract statement that there is one Mind by the following self-evident proposition: If God, or good, is real, then evil, the unlikeness of God, is unreal. And evil can only seem to be real by giving reality to the unreal. . . . Science reveals only one Mind, and this one shining by its own light and governing the universe, including man, in perfect harmony" (pp. 469, 470, 510).

Gas fumes fatal to Paltz, owner Sunnycroft Farms

Alfred A. Paltz, owner of Sunnycroft Farm and Hatchery of Roselle, died Tuesday morning while being taken to Sherman hospital. He had collapsed while putitng into emergency use a gasoline engine because of power failure.

An autopsy revealed Paltz had died of a coronary attack but it is believed to have been brought on either by carbon monoxide gas from the gasoline motor in the pump house, or the exertion of blocking the motor with a pinchbar, or a combination of both.

PALTZ'S WATER pump stopped Monday night when power failures throughout the area put Keeneyville and other DuPage county communities in darkness. Faced with the problem of getting water for his chickens, Paltz purchased a gasoline motor and worked most of the night in connecting it to the pump.

Because the motor was not bolted down, the belt to the pump kept slipping, and Paltz and his wife, Irene, were holding the tension tight by means of a pinchbar Tuesday morning when he suddenly collapsed.

Mrs. Paltz helped him outside and called Donald Morley, an employee. Paltz was taken into his home and he seemed to recover somewhat. State police were notified.

Just as Paltz was being placed in the ambulance, he appeared to suffer another relapse. Oxygen was administered by ambulance attendants and when it appeared that he had stopped breathing, the combination resuscitator and inhalator was used as a resuscitator.

HOSPITAL AUTHORITIES had been notified to be prepared for the emergency and a doctor was standing by when the ambulance arrived. Paltz was dead, however. Stimulants were administered in an attempt to revive him but they proved futile.

Paltz was born in Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 22, 1897, and entered the hatchery business in Palatine in 1919, operating a place there until 1945, when he moved to Keeneyville to open a similar business.

He was a member of the Palatine Masonic lodge and Bethel Commandery 36, Knights Templar.

Besides the widow, Irene, he is survived by a sister, Mrs. Lyra Tooker of Oneida, N. Y.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 1:30 at Wolff funeral home, Elgin. Interment will be on his burial lot at Palatine.

Blackhawk district Boy Scout leaders meet at Mount Prospect

by ARNOLD HATCH

Eleven district leaders of N. W. S. Council met at the Mt. Prospect City Hall February 9, to discuss various phases of Scouting in the Blackhawk district.

Arthur Blaschke predicts that the finance drive which has just started in Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect and Prospect Heights will be a bigger success this year because of the interest and friendliness that everyone has toward the Cubs and Scouts of this area.

George Sheppard led a spirited discussion in which it was decided not to switch over at the present time at least to the troop court of honor and troop board of review which is strictly a local event. The district Court of Honor and district Board of Review is the present system of awarded Scouts for their advancement and is, as the name implies, a district wide program.

Ben Cochrane discussed the reason for a district committee, its function, duties and responsibilities. He suggested that the minutes of the meeting be mimeographed and copies sent to all members, believing that this will create more interest in district activities.

HAROLD MEYER of Troop 23 is satisfied that their problems which are mostly in leadership, will iron out now since T-23 has been made into two troops. The new troop, which is T-51, will soon have its charter and at present is under the leadership of Gordon Cameron and is sponsored by the Mt. Prospect Ev. Lutheran church.

Bob Charles of Cub Pack 223 feels that a lot of their difficulties have disappeared since organization of the new Cub Pack 251 which also is sponsored by the Mt. Prospect Ev. Lutheran church.

Scout leaders of Troops 7, 36 and 37 agree that outside of a few "growing pains," the scouting picture is definitely much more brighter in Blackhawk district.

George Sheppard and Ben Cochrane will head a committee for the scout leaders appreciation dinner which is given annually to honor all Cub and Scout leaders, also the district leaders will be elected at the dinner, which will be Tuesday, March 14, place to be announced later.

STAN HUNTINGTON asks for a good attendance at the Scout Widows Ball, which is an annual occasion to honor "scout widows" and will be held at the Lincoln school gym at Park Ridge February 17. The Camporee will be held June 9, 10 and 11, under the direction of Eric Church and T. R. Smith. The first period of the outdoor camp at Camp Napawan, Wis., will start June 21 and have a capacity of 90 scouts. The Cub jamboree will be held at Rand Park field house, Des Plaines, June 17, under the direction of Ralph Spoo, and the national Jamboree, added Stan, will be held at Valley Forge and cost a total of $110 per scout for two weeks including the three-day training period and a side trip to Washington, D. C. 33 scouts and three leaders so far have signed up for this once-in-a-lifetime scout pilgrimage.

George Sheppard has arranged a meeting of the nominating committee, who are George Laubenheimer of Mt. Prospect, M. A. Johnson of Prospect Heights and Frank Wright of Arlington Heights. They will make nominations of the district leaders for this year.

Among the district leaders present were: George Sheppard, district chairman; Stan Huntington, scout executive; Ben Cochrane, district commissioner; Art Blaschke, district finance chairman; Lowell Berg, institutional representative Cub Pack 251.

Harold Meyer, T-23 committee chairman; Otto Rezek, Troop 36 committee chairman; Frank Wright, scoutmaster T-7; Walter Sundblad, scoutmaster T-37; Bob Charles, cubmaster Pack 223; Arnold Hatch, publicity chairman.

Thelma Nesset elected to Angus association

Brotherhood Week at Heights high school

Brotherhood Week will be observed February 19-26 at Arlington Heights township high school with the theme "Brotherhood for Peace and Freedom."

The Week of Washington's birthday has been set aside for the observance in recognition of that great statesman's belief in the inviolate right of every man to "worship God according to the dictates of his own heart."

CLASSES in English, social science and foreign language will cooperate with panel discussions, book reviews, dramatizations and visual aids to participate in the occasion.

The idea of Brotherhood Week was conceived by a Catholic priest from Denver who, in 1932, suggested to the National Conference of Christians and Jews that they designate a special period each year to concentrate the thoughts of the entire nation on the idea of brotherhood.

For this celebration, the President of the United States, who is the honorary chairman, has invited the people to consider together the need and implications of brotherhood in human relations.

THE 1950 PROGRAM was launched at a meeting of leaders from across the country in Washington, D. C. on Armistice Day. President Truman, in delivering the keynote address, declared that "We have achieved our unity in this country, not by eliminating our differences in religion and tradition, not by hiding or suppressing our political and economic conflicts, but by holding to a concept which rises above them all, the concept of the brotherhood of man."

Unleashing of atomic power has heightened the realization that only through unity of all peoples can we attain our goals of peace and freedom.

WHY WASTE BEAUTIFUL SNOW?

Arl. Hts. 2130-M

America's children of tragedy, the Navajo Indians, were the beneficiaries of a collection taken up by the Welfare Committee of the Arlington Heights Public schools in January.

The Navajos, living on a reservation of 25,000 square miles, covering part of Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado and Utah have been especially hard pressed this year. There are about 26,000 Navajo children of school age. Half the children die before the age of six, mostly from hunger, or diseases caused by hunger. Congress has shown interest in a 10-year rehabilitation and development program for the Navajos, but their need is immediate and pressing.

The Welfare Committee presented the Save the Children Federation with a check for $72.48 for aid to the Navajo children.

The Committee also had charge of the March of Dimes campaign in the school. The drive lasted two weeks, during which the pupils donated over $200 to fight that great enemy of childhood, poliomyelitis.

IN MARCH the Committee will conduct the Junior Red Cross program, in which the pupils will be enrolled as members. Members seek small gifts for the veterans' hospitals, children's hospitals and homes for the aged. Lists of acceptable gifts, such as games, puzzles, etc., will be posted at the school. In addition, Junior Red Cross gift boxes will be filled as a gesture of friendship toward children in other countries.

Members of the Committees are: South school, sixth grade, Peter Swanson and John Gregg; seventh grade, Margot Mates, James Schultheis and Marilyn Wagoner; eighth grade, Pat Whitehouse and Sally Cleaver.

North school: sixth grade, Jane Bray and Carole Bierdeman; seventh grade, Arlene Gorder and Roger Mueller; eighth grade, David Crittenden and Patsy Friedel.

These members were elected by their respective classes at the beginning of the school year. The Welfare Committee is sponsored by J. A. Tomlinson, Miss Florence Zwane and Mrs. Kay Campbell.

News of VFW Post 981

Though 100 members have renewed their memberships in the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 981, Arlington Heights, there are still many who must still do so. Dues, which is $3 per year, should be forwarded to John Duthorn, Quartermaster, 706 N. State rd., Arlington Heights.

The Post extends its thanks to Black's Funeral Home for volunteering its ambulance service to the Post.

The club house committee, headed by George Svetanoff, reports good progress is being made and plans for the proposed building will be drawn at an early date.

Cook County Council will celebrate its 51st anniversary April 29, at the Chicago Arena. The local Post will send its firing squad and colors to take part in this event.

Northwest Heighters

Newcomers in the community

The occupants of the new Georgian style home at 826 Princeton ave. are the Merton Postle family, formerly of Glencoe. They moved here a little over a week ago and have found their neighbors extremely friendly and helpful. Arlington Heights is not strange to them. They have been friends of the John A. Lindstroms for some time, and had made frequent visits to their home in the past, during which time they also became acquainted with other Northwest Heighters. Consequently they feel quite at home in the community.

Their pride and joy is their little son, Freddie, 2½. His constant companion is his dog "Miss Poo." Freddie misses his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Young of Glencoe, as he is used to being with them every day.

Mr. Postle's mother, Mrs. Merton Postle Sr. of West Sabin in the Sky, Monroe County, W. Va., is visiting the family and will be with them for the next two weeks.

Mac Fadzean, Everly, and Associates. Consulting Engineers in Hubbard Woods, is the firm Mr. Postle is with. He is a graduate of Texas A&M.

Mrs. Postle is a graduate of the University of Kentucky and a member of Chi Omega.

The Postle's have a problem: Mr. Postle drives to his place of business and is hoping to locate some one from Arlington Heights who also drives to work in Wilmette, Winnetka or Glencoe, in order that they may take turns driving. If some other family has this same situation, both problems would be solved. If so, the Postles would very much appreciate a call; their telephone number is 1923-M.

Sewing and collecting early American furnishings are the hobbies of the lady of the house. The Postles have an old cobbler's bench which is used as a coffee table, huge, old fashioned copper kettles, oil lamps and many other interesting items, which carry out the theme of their home. The patience and quality in Mrs. Postle's sewing is demonstrated in the attractive large, round, braided rug which covers a major portion of the living room floor, together with other smaller matching braided rugs.

Change in date of meeting

The regular business meeting of the Northwest Community Betterment Group has been changed from February 21 (as mentioned in the last issue) to February 22, because of the Boy Scout Banquet which is being held on the night of the 21st. The time and place are the same, 8 p. m. at the Village hall.

Slowly improving

Hugo Eiler is convalescing very well, considering the seriousness of his operation last Tuesday. He will remain in the Wesley Memorial hospital for the next three or four weeks. In the meantime he is now permitted to have visitors, and would appreciate having his friends visit him. He may have two visitors at a time. A thoughtful card also means much at a time like this.

Christening

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Trendel proudly stood up for their little nephew, Billy James Armstrong, 9 months old, when he was christened Sunday in the Mayfair Methodist church in Chicago. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Armstrong. His grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Trendel, gave a dinner in his honor after the christening at which all of the family were present, including Mrs. Louise Feddersen, mother of Mrs. Howard Trendel.

Present at dedication

Conoco develops new super motor oil

Continental Oil Company announced development of a new motor oil which is the result of more than eight years' laboratory research, two winters of testing in Montana and Colorado, and a 50,000-mile road-run in temperatures that ranged as high as 110 degrees in the shade.

The new product will be made available to the public February 15 throughout the company's trade outlets according to L. F. McCollum, president.,

The oil, McCollum said, marks another step forward in methods pioneered and developed by Continental to use additives in mineral oils to increase effectiveness against wear and assure longer life for automobile engines. It is called Conoco Super Motor Oil,

"The spectacular road test, conducted in the summer of 1949 on the Mexican border, showed that the new oil virtually stops wear before it starts," McCollum stated. "In fact, by measurement with highly sensitive instruments, wear was an average of less than one one-thousandth of an inch on cylinders and crankshafts. Original factory machining marks were still visible on cylinders and piston rings."

Child Injures Head In Fall From Car

Gloria Bach, one of the four-year old twins of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bach, Medinah, fell from the family car earlier this week and six stitches were required to close a wound on her head.

According to Bach the accident occurred when the car hit a rut at a railroad crossing near their home, causing Gloria to bump against the door handle.

All five generations pictured above were present at a birthday party given for Mrs. Louise Rohlwing, of Mt. Prospect (seated) who celebrated her 86th birthday February 15. Standing left to right are Mrs. Emma Pfingsten, 68, of Roselle, Mrs. Esther Benhart, 43, of Roselle, Lou Ann Hansen, 4 months, of Keeneyville, and Mrs. Lou Ellen Hansen, 22, of Keeneyville.

Twenty-five members of the family were present at a birthday dinner to help Mrs. Rohlwing observe the event. Mrs. Rohlwing has 29 grandchildren, 54 great-grandchildren and 3 great-great grandchildren. No member of the family resides more than 25 miles away from home. The first Sunday of June of each year the whole family gathers together for a reunion.

Mrs. Rohlwing has a sister, Mrs. Engel Nerge of Mt. Prospect, who is 83, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Engel Lichthardt of Arlington Heights, who will be 89 in May.

The Library corner

With the theme "Brotherhood for Peace and Freedom" America is preparing to celebrate its 17th annual Brotherhood Week, February 19 to 26, sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

President Truman and former Secretary of the Navy John L. Sullivan, the national chairman, extend an invitation to the people of the United States to participate.

The Arlington Heights Public Library has a number of books carrying out this theme.

Two of the latest are "Killers of the Dream" by Lillian Smith, a story of the present day South, which will challenge and inspire men of good will everywhere, and "Your Most Humble Servant" by Shirley Graham, the amazing story of Benjamin Banneker, free negro, forgotten hero of America's early years.

Another of interest is "Americans All" by Oscar Leonard, in which grandfather tells how Jews helped in the discovery and building of America.

Other significant titles are "A Mask for Privilege," "Must Men Hate," "Glass House of Prejudice," "Lost Boundaries," and "Action for Unity."

To choose play for spring production of Village Theatre group

The executive board of Arlington Heights Village Theatre, Inc., is holding a second meeting, tonight, Thursday, to make plans for the spring production of the group to be given during the month of May. A slate of several plays will be presented to the full membership of the organization at a meeting next Thursday evening.

The organization's incorporation papers arrived last week, and the group is now officially a not-for-profit corporation of the state of Illinois.

Next Thursday's meeting will begin at 8 p. m. at 611 E. Euclid. All old members and new members are asked to attend, and anyone interested in joining the organization is invited to be present. Tryouts for the spring production will be held the following Sunday.

Among those eligible for membership following work on "Night Must Fall" are Mrs. A. D. Anderson, Miss Joan Barry, David Breitsprecher, Robert Hawley, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Opello and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rapp.

New Neighbors .... IN THE CITY OF GOOD NEIGHBORS

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hauser
624 N. Highland

From Emporium, Penn., the J. H. Hauser family moved to their new residence on N. Highland the second week in January.

Mr. Hauser is originally from Utica, N. Y., and his wife is a native of Long Island. Their first move west was to Emporium, Penn., where Mr. Hauser was employed as a salesman for the Sylvannia Electric Products. His recent transferral to the Chicago branch of this organization brought him and his family to Arlington Heights.

Little Martha Hauser, their only child, had her sixth birthday February 9 and planned to celebrate again when her Daddy returned from his business trip the following day. She attends kindergarten at the Methodist church and is busy making new friends. Martha is also having lots of fun with her shiny blue bicycle, a birthday gift from her parents.

Mrs. Hauser likes their new location in Arlington Heights. Being close to Chicago appealed to her. In comparing this area with the East she stated the food supply here is much better. "The food stores in town fascinate me," said this new neighbor.

In regard to sports, "We all like to swim and ski," said Mrs. Hauser.

Mr. and Mrs. George Arndt
634 S. Evergreen

New home owners on the south side of town are Mr. and Mrs. George Arndt. The Arndts moved into their attractive new home November 7 of last year. It is a charming 5 room home, modern in design and distinctive in decoration.

The decorating honors go to Mrs. Arndt, who also likes to sew and paint. Her quaint Pennsylvania-Dutch designs and unique hand-made felt pictures help create the personality of this home.

Blond, one and one-half year old Peggy Lynn is the "sunbeam" of this family, and enjoys Mike and Pippy, their two springer spaniels.

Mr. Arndt is employed with Homes Motors, a Ford Agency in the loop. Hunting is one of his hobbies and he finds Mike and Pippy able assistants on his hunting trips.

The Arndts moved here from north Chicago where they had been living with Mr. Arndt's parents. Mrs. Arndt, originally from Des Plaines, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Blain of Des Plaines.

Desirous of getting out of the city and having a home of their own, they were happy to find just the home they were looking for in Arlington Heights.

General language course to be offered next year

R. M. Conrad, curriculum director at Arlington Heights Township high school, has announced that a one-semester course in General Language will be offered next year. The course will begin with a few easy lessons in Latin, Spanish, French, and German as a familiarization and will trace the relationship of these tongues in the development of the English language.

The course is designed especially for students who may not have a special aptitude in foreign languages but who wish to acquire an appreciation of the underlying cultures of other countries as well as a general introduction to foreign languages.

The Army was never like this -

According to T-Sgt Raymond J. Steffen of the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station at 2001 West Irving Park Road, Chicago a multitude of young men have been hesitant about enlisting due to the fact that the recruiting sergeants have been unable to give them factual information of what actually happens to an individual from the time he applies at the local recruiting station up to and including the procedure until a man finishes basic training.

The final stage before being sworn in is an exacting physical examination where a certain percentage are disqualified because of physical defects. The Air Force enlisted men are then shipped by rail to Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, to begin their basic training. Upon arrival there, a recruit is given an immediate partial pay of $10.00 to take care of incidental needs.

Civilian clothing in their possession is sent home until basic is completed. At the end of the 13 week restricted period the airmen may wear civilian clothing on off duty periods. Articles such as radios, cameras, etc., may be brought along or purchased at a lower cost at the Post Exchange.

Within the first hours of an airman's arrival, he is issued a complete set of clothing and needed equipment which will make up his military wardrobe. After the seventh week of training, 12 hour passes are issued periodically to all trainees. A permanent pass is given the man after completion of the 13 week period.

In his fourth week of training, the airman is given a battery of tests to determine his aptitude in eight general fields covering mechanics, radio, radar, and all of the career training assignments offered by the Air Force. Each man is interviewed by a counselor to help him determine what training he is best fitted for. His selection is guided by the results of the aptitude tests previously given. The tests prove what he is best suited for and must be adhered to.

The highlight of Lackland's training schedule is the 10 day furlough given the successful graduate. At the end of this furlough, the man reports to his new duty or technical assignment, which may be anywhere in the continental limits of the United States.

Variety show at Stadium February 20

Phil Regan, nationally-known singer, and Pat O'Brien, of movie fame, will headline "Lundi Gras," a spectacular variety show at the Chicago Stadium on Monday, Feb. 20, at a special benefit for the Dominican Fathers of the Chicago area.

Stage, screen, radio and television stars will be on the two-hour entertainment bill at the show.

"Lundi Gras" — meaning "Fat Monday"—symbolizes the traditional merrymaking immediately preceding the sombre Lenten season which begins this year on Feb. 22.

Tickets for the big Stadium affair went on sale Thursday at the Stadium box office and at Bond's and Lytton's, both at State and Jackson. Reserved seats are priced at $1.80, balcony seats at $1.20.

Wieboldt store opens with great fanfare

Tradition was shattered and merchandising history was made in Evanston Monday, February 6.

Instead of cutting the traditional ribbon, S. L. Hypes, president of Wieboldt Stores, Inc., turned a five-foot long key in a huge padlock and opened the doors of Wieboldt's new ultra-modern department store to the public.

The new Evanston store, Hypes said, is designed for customer service and customer comfort, and he mentioned such features as the double-deck parking structure with almost six acres of parking area for 744 cars; package gathering, self-service in housewares (a Wieboldt innovation in department store merchandising) and the many other customer conveniences incorporated into this modern store.

More than 3,000 persons jammed the street to witness the store opening. Police roped off the street and re-routed traffic. It was estimated that by noon—two hours after the "unlocking"—more than 10,000 customers were in the store. The parking structure was used by more than 5,500 cars opening day.

All departments of the old store have been expanded in the new building, and many new features were seen by the public for the first time Monday. The Evanston Room, the large ground floor restaurant, will serve three meals a day, seven days a week. There is a super food mart, with a complete line of groceries, meats, bakery goods and dairy products. A package gathering and checking system relieves customers of their parcel juggling problems.

With a total area of nearly six acres, the double-decked parking structure is believed to be one of the largest department store parking structures in the country.

Each deck has a separate street level entrance, and there are no ramps connecting the two decks. The upper deck entrance is on Clark st. just east of Ridge ave., and the lower level entrance is on Oak ave., opposite the Evanston Room. A glassed-in bridge connects the top deck and the second floor of the store.

One more service Wieboldt's is introducing to north shore and northwestern shoppers is a package gathering system. There is a service desk on each floor where customers can check their purchases—all on one claim check. If desired, the bundles can be chuted down to the first floor service desks and kept together there. Or the customer may elect to have the parcels taken to the parking structure.

Permits given for 3 additional homes in Scarsdale Estates

The third permit was issued to LeRoy R. Rothenberger, who will erect a $14,000 home at Bristol lane and Orchard.

Pine ave. and Techny rd., one story frame home to A. E. Rende, 2941 N. Kilpatrick, $10,000.

Openings for college students available in naval officer program

The Navy has announced that college students who enroll now or who are members of the Naval Reserve may apply for the Reserve Officer Candidate Training Program which awards officers' commissions as Ensign, USNR, to selected enlisted (men and women) members of the Naval Reserve.

Training occurs in two six-week summer periods at either Newport, Rhode Island, or San Diego, California. In the case of women the ROC school will be at U. S. Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill. The basic course comes at the end of the candidate's freshman or sophomore year; the advanced course follows the junior year.

For the basic six-week training period candidates will receive the pay and longevity of a Seaman (approximately $133) plus longevity, quarters meals, uniforms, medical care, and transportation to and from their homes or schools. Summer classes for 1950 will begin on July 10. Applications must be submitted prior to March 1, 1950 to be considered. Successful candidates are not obligated to serve on active duty upon being commissioned unless Congress declares war or a national emergency.

School lunch section of Area Educator's Council to meet Monday p. m.

The School lunch section of the Arlington Area Educator's Council will hold their first curriculum meeting next Monday, in the cafeteria of Arlington Heights Township high school at 3 o'clock. Dinner will be served at 6 o'clock. Anyone interested in school lunch programs is invited to attend. Those who wish to attend the dinner should make a reservation by calling the high school before February 17.

The program will include talks by Robert DeJonge, sanitary engineer of the Cook County Health Department; Harriet Searls, Food Specialist, formerly with the United States Department of Agriculture and Consultant for Workshop; an experience exchange; a question and answer session; and an observation of an automatic dishwashing machine. The program is in charge of Mary S. Handlin, cafeteria director at the high school.

Weight of Woods

All woods would be of the same specific gravity were it not for the fact that because of variation in the size of the cell cavity and its thickness of cell wall, some have more wood substance than others.

FAVORITES For FLAVOR

by MARILYN McLENNAN

Planning an afternoon tea . . or perhaps a stork or bridal shower? Then glamorize your cookie tray and please your guests with Bird Nest cookies and Coconut Strips.

Mrs. Caroline Wolfarth, wife of Dr. Alfred Wolfarth of 111 W. Prospect ave., Mt. Prospect, is the contributor of these two elegant cookie recipes.

"Our family likes everything in the line of food," laughed this busy mother of Bob, 24, Edward, 22, Charles, 20, and Eleanor, 14. At the time of our conversation she was in the midst of packaging and freezing various cuts of one-half a steer. She has a freezer in her kitchen and freezes large quantities of meat and fruit, especially her home grown raspberries.

"Both of these cookies are rich—the kind you like to serve at parties," explained Mrs. Wolfarth. The bird nest cookies are best eaten the day they are made while the jam center is still soft and tender. The coconut strips, with their moist topping, will keep for several days. They pack well and would perk up any college spread or midnight snack.

Bird Nest Cookies

½ cup butter
¼ cup brown sugar
1 egg yolk
1 cup all purpose flour
1 slightly beaten egg white
1 cup finely chopped nut meats

To make these cookies cream the butter and brown sugar. Beat in one egg yolk and gradually add the sifted flour. Form the dough in little balls one inch in diameter. Dip the balls into the slightly beaten egg white and then roll them in the nut meats.

Press the centers forming the "nest" and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 8 minutes. Remove them from the oven, press the centers again and fill with your favorite jelly or jam. Bake again for 8 to 10 minutes.

This recipe will make about 18 or 20 cookies.

Coconut Strips

½ cup shortening
½ cup brown sugar
1 cup flour

Mix these three ingredients thoroughly and spread in greased baking pan (7"x11"). Bake in 350 degree oven 12-15 minutes. While this batter is baking, make the topping.

2 eggs well beaten
1 cup brown sugar
1 tablespoon flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup coconut
1 cup nutmeats

Spread the topping on the baked dough and bake again for 25 minutes at 350 degrees F. Let it stand until cool and cut in strips ½" by 1½" and roll in powdered sugar.

Mrs. Sarah Cosman, William Krueger wed in chapel at Lutheran home

Community Camera

February 11 was a very special day for the residents of the Arlington Heights Lutheran Home and Service for the Aged. For the first time in the 58 years since its founding, the Home saw two of its family joined in holy matrimony in a ceremony in the Home's chapel.

The bride, Mrs. Sarah Cosman, a member of the nursing staff, has been at the Home for six years, and the groom, William Krueger, formerly of Skokie, entered the Home as a resident in July, 1949. The couple's romance started when they played checkers together.

Rev. J. M. Kempf, executive secretary, performed the ceremony, which was attended by relatives and friends of the couple and by friends and rersidents of the Home.

The happy bride and groom were feted at a party in the dining room after the ceremony. Members of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Home joined the staff in preparing the supper and celebration and the Home's family and friends joined in wishing the bride and groom many years of joy together in their life at the Home.

Pert Piqué

Waistcoat or "weskit" — no matter how you pronounce it — means one of the nattiest fashion favorites you can wear. Here it is in crisp, white Lonsdale pique, teamed with navy skirt of the same fabric, as one of the California styles featured in the February Good Housekeeping. The "weskit" can be worn under suits in winter, making it a versatile value at $8. And $12 buys the skirt which, like its teammate, is made by Marjorie Montgomery.

Ladies Missionary Fellowship hears missionary from China speak at meeting

"Opportunities to evangelize China with the Gospel of Christ are almost unlimited," declared Miss Hilda Petterson at the Prospect Heights Bible church Ladies Missionary Fellowship meeting last Thursday. Eighteen ladies were present at the home of Mrs. Julius Swanson for the meeting.

"Natives walk for as many as four days to bring friends or children to the white missionary's medical compound for medical help and attention," she said.

Miss Petterson, medical missionary on furlough from Honan Province, China, told of the squalid living conditions of the poorer people, and how, through the medical assistance given by Christian doctors and nurses, many are converted to Christianity.

A humorous touch was added as she related that, "When a native is operated on for kidney stones, he insists on taking the stone home to show to his family and friends, to see who has the largest one."

Since Communism has closed the door for missionary endeavor in China, she is working now at the Lutheran Deaconess hospital in Chicago. Her return to China is uncertain.

The next meeting of the Ladies Missionary Fellowship will be held March 9, with Mrs Ralph Burns, hostess.

Dr. Irving J. Lee speaks at Woman's club Men's night meeting

Dr. Irving J. Lee, lecturer, author and professor of public speaking at the School of Speech, Northwestern university, gave an outstanding talk Tuesday evening at the Men's Night meeting of the Arlington Heights Woman's club.

"The Pursuit of Ignorance" was the title of the lecture, and the main theme was the fact that people in the process of communication have not developed an intelligent understanding of each other. Dr. Lee said that we are constantly speaking in terms of what we believe to be factual but what is actually an inferential type of information.

He gave many illustrations to explain why people were not well understood when they spoke and pointed out that people must accept the fact that there is no limit to knowledge and that there is always more to learn, otherwise there is no learning.

The Variety Four, a barber shop quartet composed of Darwin Lange and Fred Gohs of Barrington, Howard Wenzel of Algonquin and William Lathen of Arlington Heights, entertained the members and guests.

CIRCLING THE TOWN

BY PHYLLIS KNIGHT

The big storm, it seems, is on every one's mind this week, and conversation invariably turns storm-ward when neighbors get together. Its beauty is overwhelming with picture-book trees covered with icicles and forming a true "winter wonderland." Along Euclid, especially, one feels as if he were walking or riding through an enchanted land.

Unfortunately, though, the beauty is not just that, for these same icicles spell devastation as well. Many branches have fallen, and many trees will be permanently damaged if not killed.

Several sections of the village have been without power because of fallen power lines, and many a devotee of the electric razor went to work with a shadow on Tuesday morning. Others who cooked with electricity did without their morning coffee and ate bread and butter, without being able to make toast or fry eggs. Some heating systems, too, went off because of the lack of electricity and woolen shirts and slacks became the order of the day.

And then, of course, there was the neighbor who worked fully a half hour to open his perennially sticking garage door—he tried to kick it loose, poured hot water on the sill, heated the key with a match, until he discovered he could have kept trying to open it all night without success—he'd been using the wrong key!

Campbell is coming

On a day like today a goodly percentage of villagers no doubt would like to be in California, and no doubt most of them will be staying right here. But they can dream, can't they? And those who attend the lecture-movie on "Irresistible California" on Friday night at Faith church parish hall are guaranteed their dreams will be in technicolor.

The "philosopher of the forest," Sam Campbell, will present the talk and will illustrate his words with color movies. Mr. Campbell is noted for his travel talks and preceding the main subject, will show his favorite film of wildlife at his Wisconsin sanctuary.

The talk by Sam Campbell is sponsored by the Sunday school of Faith church, and all men and women, as well as boys and girls, of the community are welcome. The talk will begin at 8 p. m.

When they count noses

When the census takers make the rounds in just about six weeks now and start asking us all those questions, we imagine they'll find things to be pretty much as people have thought all along.

The village has grown tremendously—as we all know just looking at the building going on and at the new neighbors in each block. There are many more children of school age—just ask any teacher—and there are a seemingly endless number of toddlers. These things are obvious, and no census is needed to tell us; but the "how big's" and the "how many's" we'll all be eager to learn.

And from what we hear, housewives had best be prepared to sit down for a good long chat with Uncle Sam's representative when he calls—for the story is, he'll ask page upon page of questions.

People are talking about . . .

and making plans to attend, the World Day of Prayer next Friday at the Methodist church. Women of the First Presbyterian, St. John Evangelical and Reformed, South Community Baptist of Mt. Prospect and Bible and Community of Prospect Heights are also cooperating to make this annual observance include the largest number of women in the history of the service.

James Campbell weds Elmhurst girl

Miss Margaret Ecale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ecale of Elmhurst, became the bride of James R. Campbell Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Campbell of Prospect Heights Saturday, February 11, at Champaign, Illinois.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Leroy Miller of the St. Matthews Lutheran church in Champaign.

Miss Carol Dinsdale of Chicago was the maid of honor and George Worth, also of Chicago, was best man.

After a short honeymoon the bride and groom will return to Champaign to continue their studies at the University of Illinois where both are seniors.

Jim was one of the charter members of the Boy Scouts in Prospect Heights and one of the assistant scoutmasters.

Mrs. Earl Mac Nevin elected vice-president of Cook County Home Bureau

Mrs. Earl MacNevin of Stonegate, who is a member of the Mt. Prospect Home Bureau, unit was elected vice-president of the Cook County Home Bureau's annual luncheon held at the LaSalle hotel Wednesday.

Members of the Mt. Prospect unit who attended the meeting were Mrs. A. L. Roderick, Mrs. George Weiss, Mrs. W. Lessman, Mrs. W. A. Hartel, Mrs. L. K. Huffman and Mrs. H. F. Anderson.

Plan to use abandoned clay pits to dispose of suburban garbage

Plans to obtain passage of a County ordinance supervising garbage disposal for the unincorporated areas of Cook County which would utilize abandoned clay pits for this purpose, were announced Wednesday by William N. Erickson, President of the County Board.

A special committee to study the matter was established several months ago after the public demanded that something be done about the abandoned clay pits, wells, and quarries, that were a source of numerous accidents to children. A survey was to be made of all these abandoned claypits and recommendations made to the County Board.

A member of the committee, William Mortimer, assistant superintendent of highways, said Wednesday that the survey had been completed but that the committee's recommendations would not be ready until midsummer. He pointed out that the ordinance should set up regulations on dumping procedures which would help suburban communities solve their garbage disposal problems.

Civil service examinations

The U. S. Civil Service Commission announced examinations for filling the following positions in Washington, D. C., and nearby Maryland and Virginia: Traffic and Transportation Specialist, Rate Examiner (Public Utilities), Communication Rate or Tariff Examiner, $3,100 to $6,400 a year; Transportation Rate Auditor, $3,450 to $4,600 a year; and Transportation Tariff Examiner (Passenger), $3,825 a year.

Complete information about these examinations and their requirements as well as application forms may be obtained from the Commission's Arlington Heights secretary, Francis S. Hall, from Civil Service regional offices, or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C. Applications should be sent to the Commission's Washington office and must be received not later than March 2, 1950.

Barrington to erect firehouse, buy new fire truck

The Barrington Village Board voted to purchase a new fire department truck at an estimated cost of $14,000 to $20,000 and appointed a committee of five members to select a site for the erection of a new fire house. The total cost of truck and garage will be paid for through bond issue to be paid over a 20 year period.

VD can be cured in ten days if caught early

Venereal disease is still spreading among the population faster than public health personnel can trace it. There are as estimated 200,000 new cases of syphilis in the country every year. At least one-fourth of the new victims do not know they have the disease and therefore do not have it treated.

Take the case of a young, 16 year old girl in Cook County. Her father died while she was still young and her mother turned to alcohol for aid in solving her problems. Let's call this girl Rose, although that is not her real name.

Rose left high school before graduation. Reported by her teachers as always a problem, she was noted to be boy-crazy and wild.

SEVERAL MONTHS after quitting school Rose went to see a doctor about a boil that she said bothered her. The doctor suspiciously sent some of Rose's blood to the laboratory for examination. The report from the lab showed that Rose had syphilis.

Although she hadn't finished high school, Rose was smart enough to accept treatment for her disease when it was offered. After the two weeks' treatment Rose was returned home as cured.

When she entered the CITC Rose was asked to name all of the social contacts she had during the time before her disease was found. She listed some 25 names.

Each of the 25 names that Rose had given was contacted and a blood test taken to determine the presence of syphilis. Luckily, in this case, not one of them showed signs of the disease.

BUT THAT DID not answer the question of where Rose had gotten the disease. So once again health officials know that although they have cured one case of venereal disease, the original source is still at large spreading the disease. And in all probability, Rose had forgotten one or two contacts that may or may not be spreading the disease.

The Cook County Department of Public Health, in its effort to combat the spread of venereal disease, has five clinics operating which offer diagnosis and treatment facilities.

Forest Products

The use of forest products is constantly expanding. From lumber for our houses to chemical derivatives, wood continues to play an indispensable part in our daily lives.

Venus Nienow, Jewel's home economist and Earl Miller, Vice President and Merchandising Manager of Jewel Food Stores use 4-foot scissors to cut ribbon at official opening of Jewel's new Frozen Food Storage Plant. Mrs. Nienow is only five feet tall—A big scissors for such a little girl, isn't it?

OFFICIAL OPENING AT "IGLOO" PARTY

Home Economists Attend

Jewel formally opened its big Frozen Food Storage plant with a party attended by the leading home economists in the Chicago area. Luncheon was served at the Jewel Food Stores Office, 3617 South Ashland Avenue, Chicago, Illinois. The menu was made up of frozen foods — from Fruit Juice Cocktail to Ice Cream and Cookies for dessert.

It's Really Big

This big Jewel Frozen Food Storage plant is about a half block long, 63 feet wide and 15 feet high. Its operating temperature is 10° below zero. It holds approximately 2,500,000 pounds of Frozen Foods.

Compare With Your Freezer

The big "freezer" has approximately 121,000 cubic feet—compare it with your home freezer and you'll realize how big it really is. It takes 4,000 pounds of ammonia to bring this big version down to 10° below—enough ammonia to operate almost 32,000 home refrigerators.

One of the Largest

This big Jewel freezer at 3617 South Ashland Avenue, Chicago, is one of the largest in the midwest owned by a retailer. It will be used exclusively to supply Jewel Stores with frozen foods.

Gems of thought

AFFLICTION

Affliction is the wholesome soil of virtue, where patience, honor, sweet humility, and calm fortitude take root and strongly flourish. —David Mallet

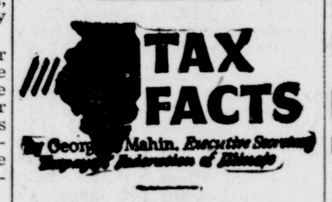
Extraordinary afflictions are not always the punishment of extraordinary sins, but sometimes the trial of extraordinary graces. —M. Henry

Prosperity is a great teacher; adversity is a greater. Possession pampers the mind; privation trains and strengthens it. —Hazlett

Adversity is sometimes hard upon a man: but for one man who can stand prosperity there are a hundred that will stand adversity. —Carlyle

Envy, rivalry, hate need no temporary indulgence that they be destroyed through suffering; they should be stifled from lack of air and freedom. —Mary Baker Eddy

Consider how much more you often suffer from your anger and grief, than from those very things for which you are angry and grieved. —Marcus Antonius



Are the chiselers who are receiving general relief and aid to dependent children picking the pockets of Illinois taxpayers to the extent of tens of millions of dollars annually, or does the chiseling add up only to peanuts? That seems to be the $64 question. (In either event, it should be stopped).

Even those who are again bitterly assailing the Illinois Public Aid Commission for further reducing public assistance grants in a desperate effort to stretch its appropriation to cover increasing relief and other public assistance demands, admit that chiseling does exist. It is their contention, however, that such chiseling amounts to only a small part of total Public Aid Commission disbursements. The question then is not whether chiseling exists, but the degree and amount of it.

Nobody knows how many chiselers there are, or how much the chiseling amounts to, on relief, old age assistance and aid to dependent children.

If a thorough investigation of every case receiving public assistance discloses that the chiseling would in fact amount to tens of millions of dollars a year, the elimination of that illegitimate burden on the taxpayers would solve a lot of problems. It would make it possible to restore grants to the level of the so-called Standard Budget to those legitimately receiving public assistance. It would go a long way toward forestalling the campaign, which now appears certain to come at the next session of the Illinois General Assembly in 1951, for an increase in the Retailers' Occupation Tax (sales tax) from the present 2% rate to at least 3 or 4%.

If the chiseling does not amount in fact to anything approaching tens of millions of dollars, then that fact should be known because a lot of people around Illinois beieve that it does. They were confirmed in that belief by the recent article in the Saturday Evening Post on the relief racket in Detroit. If the public assistance racket in Illinois approaches anything like the same proportions as the relief racket in Detroit, around 40 million dolars a year could be saved in Illinois.

There is only one way to find out under the secrecy requirements of the federal and state laws—that is, for the Illinois Pubic Aid Commission to have an independent investigation made by an independent agency of every case receiving public assistance. The cost of such an investigation would be money well spent.

You can help. If you know of any specific cases of chiselers receiving relief, aid to dependent children, old age assistance or blind assistance, send in all the information you have (anonymously if you wish) to the Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois 411½ South Fifth st., Springfield. The Taxpayers' Federation will see that each report is investigated, and will not disclose the source of its information.

State Aid society looking for homes for several boys

Don't folks like boys?

This is the question that case workers at the Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society are asking these days because they are having great difficulty in finding families who would like to board a boy in their home.

The Society now has a number of boys, ranging in age from 4 years to 12, who need boarding home care.

Board is paid by the Society and clothing and medical care are provided. A case worker is always available to help boarding parents with any problems that may arise concerning the care of the child.

Families interested in offering a home to one of these boys may telephone the Society at Whitehall 4-3313, or write the Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society, 1122 North Dearborn st., Chicago 10.

Hanover assessment up 200 thousand

The 1949 real estats assessment in the country township of Hanover has gone up more than 200 thousand dollars over 1948, County Assessor John S. Clark announced.

Hanover's land and buildings have been valued at $5,212,083 as compared with $4,992,206 for 1948, Clark said.

"The increased assessment reflects Cook county's current prosperity," he stated. "Especially notable is the continued building of new homes. Also, there has been considerable industrial growth in the county.

"Hanover's greatest assessment is due largely to residential construction," he said.

Cook county board of appeals to hold public hearing on zoning

A public hearing before the zoning board of appeals will be held at 6 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 16, in the Palatine village hall.

The property involved is approximately 2½ acres at the north corner of Rand road and Hicks road in Palatine township. The proposed amendment would rezone the property from a Farming district to a Business district.

Larson's vehicle received damage to its front end and the Schoppe auto was damaged in the rear end.

Three Escape Injury As Car Jumps Culvert At Mohawk Subdivision

Donald G. Sponholtz, 21, Melrose Park, and three other occupants of his 1936 model car miraculously escaped injury Saturday night, when the car went over a cement culvert, on Irving Park blvd., across from the Mohawk Country club. The vehicle was a total wreck.

Sponholtz, a receiving clerk, reported the right front wheel on the car locked when he applied the brakes, causing it to go out of control. The auto also knocked down a mailbox as it left the road.

Forest Management

Good timber is one of our country's principal raw material deficiencies today. Modern forest management is beginning to bring back some of the areas that were stripped under the "cut and get out" basis on which most of our great virgin stands were felled. But it will take years before many of the lands again ring to the sound of the cutters.

Women of the Moose meet Tuesday

Portage Park chapter No. 427 Women of the Moose will celebrate ritual chapter night Tuesday at 8:30 p. m at their Moose temple, 5835 West Irving Park road, with Senior Regent Mrs. Ann Todd, presiding.

Wheeling township stickers, given through the courtesy of the township officials, are now available at the home of Joseph Remsing. Every one who lives in the unincorporated sections of the township is entitled to one.

Notary public stamps, license applications for 1950 truck, car, chauffeur and driver's licenses are available at the home of Mrs. Joseph Remsing, notary public.

A group of 29 ladies—including Mrs. Theresa Scharringhausen, Mrs. Rose Coryell, Mrs. Anna Lauer, Mrs. Evelyn Martens and daughter Lynn, and Mrs. Magdalene Remsing—attended a tour of Snite's Furniture store, Chicago, last Wednesday for the benefit of St. Mary's Altar and Rosary society. The others who attended were members of the society from Des Plaines. The gift they received is to be used at the pre-Lenten party for St. Mary's February 18.

The Community club held their regular meeting last Friday evening, and a nice crowd turned out. However, for some reason, the road commissioner was not present, and it was a disappointment to the many who came primarily to hear him.

The parishioners of St Mary's church who live in this area are reminded that this Saturday the pre-Lenten party will take place at St. Mary's Training school. Every family on the parish list was to have tickets sent to them and was asked to make a $5.00 donation. The pastor states that this is not excessive since such a donation is asked only twice a year. Any one not able to return ticket books and cash, may leave them with Mrs. Remsing.

County board denies rezoning at Palatine

The County Board Tuesday denied a change of zoning from farming to B-1 (business) district for the property on the north side of Kenilworth road about 240 feet west of Vermont street in Palatine township.

The zoning reclassification had been sought by Hans Seyer and Erling Svendsen through their attorney John J. Hasterock. The zoning board of appeals recommended the zoning change be disapproved and advised that a zoning variation, however, had been granted.

Attorney Hasterock objected to the zoning board of appeal's recommendation.

Northfield high to ask for $190,000 for repaying tuition

When Northfield Township High School District was organized in 1947 it immediately assumed the responsibility of paying the tuition of all its pupils. It assumed these debts at once but could not expect any income until a year later because of the necessary interval of time. With a rapid increase in tuition costs this has created a serious problem for the local high school district.

The board has now published its intention to issue $190,000 in Funding Bonds. This money is to be used entirely for the purpose of paying tuition bills. These will be paid over a ten year period and thus the cost of "catching up" will be spread over a period of years.

The George Williams Unit of the American Legion auxiliary will sponsor two teams in the bowling tournament in Chicago March 25 and 26. Entering are Mrs. Harold Turvey, Mrs. Clifford Rabung, Mrs. Fred Grey, Mrs. James Santucci, Mrs. Harold Gosswieler, Mrs. Robert Grounu, Mrs. Pierre Thomas, Mrs. Erwin Shaer, Mrs. Charles Edwards and Miss Marylou Kortman.

CRYSTAL LAKE TO SEEK REVENGE AT ARLINGTON SATURDAY

MAC SAYS

by G. A. McELROY

With the conference championships all wrapped up by both Barrington teams the edge is off the final games of the season next Friday except for local considerations. At Barrington the students and fans hope for a new conference record by having both their teams go through the league schedule undefeated. Palatine stands in the way of this record and the Pirates, by the way, are the only school to win undisputed championships in both divisions the same season. They have done it three times but always lost one or more games. Palatine has everything to win and little to lose Friday. They can stop the Barrington streak, prevent a new record, and stay in second place if either team wins. The odds are pretty high against them, however.

Scoring race tight with one game to go

A lot of interest is centered in the conference scoring duel between Klein of Palatine who has 196 points and Anderson of Bensenville with 194. Klein notched 40 points in the two games last week end while Anderson tallied 38. Anderson should score more against tail end Wauconda in the final game than Klein should make against the champ Barrington team. If he does it will be the second year in a row Anderson has been first in point production. Neither of these boys hog the ball and pass up opportunities to feed team mates in better positions to shoot. They are both team performers.

Fasick of Arlington stops Mooseheart star

Arlington Heights came back strong from a string of four straight setbacks by trouncing Mooseheart and St. Edward of Elgin this past week end. Arlington's number one track fan, Mort Green, was telling us Saturday how Fasick, Arlington guard, stopped the famed Childress of Mooseheart.

When Fasick took over at the start of the second quarter, according to Mort, the Mooseheart star was stopped cold with just one free throw the final 24 minutes. Childress had been averaging 20 points a game so that was the main factor in the Arlington victory.

Hits 11 straight free throws in two games

Don Buenzow, Palatine's six foot six soph center, made a record last week end that we think tops the Northwest Conference. He sank all 11 free throws awarded him in the two games with Grant and Bensenville. The fact that he made eight straight against Bensenville was the main factor in the Palatine frosh-soph 28-27 victory.

Cards at Maine Friday, then come home for 'crucial'

by BOB PADDOCK

Arlington Heights high school basketball squad nears the season finals with four tough contests on tap in the remaining six contests. The locals meet Maine, Crystal Lake, Libertyville, Palatine and then enter regional play.

Friday night Coach Gene Bell's lads entrain to Maine high school for the only meeting of the two squads this season.

The Heights five, feeling fresh after their double victory over Mooseheart and St. Edward last week end, appear to have picked up to where they were before their slump in four losses.

MAINE HIGH doesn't have an impressive record at all this year in their own league play. But that never has meant much in the annual rivalry between Arlington and the Des Plaines school.

Ever since the Cardinals started emerging victorious from previous "warmup" sessions with the bigger school, rivalry has been intense. The Mainites have a poor 1-9 slate in West Suburban play to date.

Plenty of local fans are certain to be on hand for the fracas at Maine. Two hundred tickets were sold to fans Friday night when they saw the locals could win a game, after all. Four straight defeats had started some stalwarts to wonder.

SATURDAY NIGHT the Cardinals will be up against their toughest foes of the year when they meet Crystal Lake in a game that will see the Lakers gunning for revenge.

Fans can recall that 38-33 defeat administered the McHenry county school in January when the locals rushed to a 10 point advantage, the first quarter, and hung on for a final five point closing margin.

The loss has been the Lakers' only black mark administered in 23 games thus far. The visitors have always been listed among the "honorable mentions" of the expected Sweet Sixteen each week.

Athletic director Wally Grace has warned Heights fans to show up early for the game. The visitors will be bringing a large following. Doors will open at 6:30 p. m. with the preliminary slated for 7:15 p. m. Saturday night.

OTHER GAMES the following week pit both Libertyville and Palatine coming to Arlington. The Cards then enter regional play at Elgin Tuesday night, February 28, against Woodstock.

Pirates in last chance against Barrington Friday

Locals hope to upset champs for 2nd spot

It is all over, including the shouting, for the basketball race in the Northwest conference, with Barrington safely tucking away both division championships. It remains only for the Bronchos to cop both undefeated in the same year, a feat never accomplished in the league.

Palatine has high hopes of pulling an upset over the visitors on the 38-foot wide Pirate floor, and such a court could conceivably spell defeat for the champions. Odds are heavy against such a possibility and Coach Stutzman refuses to publicly make the suggestion.

The Pirates have everything to gain by a victory in the contest. Both teams are tied with Bensenville for second spot in their respective divisions. With the Bisons taking on Wauconda, their final resting place is practically assured.

PALATINE is on the spot. A loss would (and probably will) drop them to third place with Ela. Pirate fans hope the locals can rise to the occasion and smite the mighty Barringtonians and remind them again that past performance means nothing when the two schools meet.

In other games Bensenville entertains Wauconda, Ela travels to Grant, and Antioch plays at Northbrook.

Medinah golfers

Guy Paulsen pro at Medinah Country club announced today that David Mose and Charles Brady have signed to assist him at Medinah. Mose has been associated with the Phoenix, Oklahoma Country Club and Skokie golf clubs. Brady last year was head professional at Monticello Country club in Portsmouth, New Hampshire.

The addition of the two well known golf instructors gives Medinah one of the largest golf staffs in the country.

Niles presses all the way in Crystal Lake loss

by AL KRUEGER

The Marmion Military Academy will clash with the Nilehi varsity five Friday, February 17. The Cadets defeated the Trojans, 64 to 52 at Marmion earlier this month. The Trojan sophs and the Cadet sophs will meet at 7:15 p. m. Saturday night the Men of Troy will tangle with York at Elmhurst.

The Trojans swamped Highland Park, 61-36, last Friday night on the Nilehi floor. On the following night Crystal Lake eeked out a 37 to 33 decision over the Nilehi boys.

The local cagers opened up early and led Highland Park 12 to 6 at the first period. By half time the Trojans had boosted their lead to 27 to 14. Coach Bob Mackey's crew soared their lead to 48 to 27 at the three quarter mark. The Trojans second team played the final quarter racking up 14 points to 8 for the Little Giants.

Ralph Bruck and Ken Howard shared 14 points apiece while Fred Brei, who sat the last half out, scored 10 points. Tom Baldwin and Dan Freeman hit for 11 and 10 points respectively for Highland Park.

THE TROJANS dropped a heart breaker, 37 to 33 to Crystal Lake. The first stanza was close with the Tigers holding a 10 to 7 advantage. Joe Donavan's alert playing and hard-driving helped to narrow the margin to 17 to 15 at half time.

The Lakers came to life and racked up a 32 to 24 third quarter lead, mainly due to Phil Raywood's play at the pivot post. With three minutes remaining in the game Crystal Lake began freezing the ball.

Fred Brei and Ken Howard intercepted passes and converted them into baskets which ignited a spark in the Trojan cage machine. Don Walters and Ken Howard pumped in field goals in the final minute but it was too little, too late. The Trojans pressed the Lakers hard till the final whistle.

Phil Raywood was Crystal Lake's big gun with 13 points to his credit. Ken Howard and Fred Brei dropped 10 and 8 points respectively through the nets. Don Walters played an excellent defensive game, as he held Tom Parsky, Tiger captain, to just one point.

Bisons capture two from Vikings

by WARNER BACHAR

The Bensenville Bisons, with the aid of Gerald Anderson, trounced Northbrook last Friday, 55 to 40. Northbrook's Frosh-Soph also lost, 47 to 33.

Gerald Anderson, Bensenville's center and second leading scorer of the Northwest Conference, contributed 25 points as the Bisons routed Northbrook. Roy Hacker dropped down in the scoring race, being held to 4 points.

The Bisons took a quick lead and kept it throughout the game. The score at the end of the first quarter was 15 to 3 in favor of the victors. The Bisons then racked up the points and pulled out to a 29-9 half-time score. The Vikings, after scoring only 9 points in the first half, rolled up 31 points in the second half. This turned what would have been a capsizing score to a reasonable score.

ALTHOUGH Anderson made 25 points Friday, he contributed only 13 points to his team's causes Saturday to fall two points behind Klein in the scoring race.

Next to Anderson in scoring was Egley with 14 points and Rodney with 11 points.

Northbrook's Frosh-Soph took a first-quarter lead of 5 points in a 14 to 9 score. The tide was changed and Northbrook trailed by 5 points, 22-17, at the half. The game remained fairly close until the last minutes of play, when the Bisons poured on the steam and coasted to a 47 to 33 victory.

High scorers were Palm with 18 followed by Moore and Daly with 14 and 16 points respectively.

Northbrook will wind up its basketball season this Friday by playing Antioch on Northbrook's home court.

Trotters to meet Lakers again at Stadium

It'll be "Standing Room Only" at the Chicago Stadium Tuesday night, February 21 when the Harlem Globetrotters oppose the Minneapolis Lakers in the feature game of the best pro basketball doubleheader of the year.

Baltimore Bullets will meet the Stags in the other contest.

Cage fans can well remember the last two meetings of the Trotters and Lakers. Two years ago the colored five was one bucket ahead as the final two minutes ticked away. They kept passing the ball around, but Minneapolis intercepted and tied the score.

THE TROTTERS then regained the ball and continued to stall until, with one second left, Ermer Robinson jumped into the air and arched the winning basket.

Last year the game was as good an exhibition by the Trotters against the Lakers as they put on in any one of a thousand towns across the country.

The particular contest always rates as THE GAME for the cage fans for 100 miles around.

Niles boxer loses

by LOU KEESEY

Jim Major, Nilehi junior, fought in the Golden Gloves tournament February 7 at Broadway Arena. Jim, who had taken up boxing the preceding Friday, fought for the Catholic Youth Organization in the 160-pound division and was decisioned by William Kruse, a junior at Northwestern University.

Bob Jaeger, Nilehi senior, was Jim's manager. Tony Zale, ex-middleweight champion of the world, was also in Jim's corner during the fight.

Jim plans to enter a C. Y. O. tournament next month.

Klein, Anderson in hot race for scoring honors

Don Klein of Palatine and Gerald Anderson of Bensenville are staging a neck and neck race for scoring honors in the Northwest Conference. With one game to go Klein leads by two points with a 196 total while Anderson trails with 194. Both boys have approximately a 15 point a game average for the season. Klein will try to keep the lead against the Powerful Barrington Bronchos Friday while Anderson and the Bensenville Bisons meet tail end Wauconda.

Roy Hacker of Northbrook has third place just about sewed up with 158 points, a 15 point lead over Steve Roake of Barrington and Eddie Prouty of Ela who are tied at 143.

Arlington firemen lose

Arlington Heights Firemen took a trimming from the Vernon F. P. Department in a match game bowled at Libertyville Saturday. The score was 1743 for Vernon and 1599 for Arlington.

The local smokeaters will have revenge, however, in a return match March 4 at the Arlington Bowling Lanes.

Bill Wille gaining attention on cage squad at Tulsa U.

Bill Wille of Mt. Prospect, and former member of Arlington's last Northeast conference basketball champions in 1946, is gaining plenty of attention at Tulsa University where he is playing with Coach Clarence Iba's "giant upsetters."

Paper clippings from Oklahoma best tell the story of the most recent upset of Oklahoma City University by Tulsa. They say, in part:

"Displaying the rebounding sensation in Sophomore Bill Wille of Mt. Prospect, Ill., who scraped loose ovals off both backboards, and featuring the driving play of little Neil Ridley, the Tulsans bounced from behind an early deficit of 8-3, and calmly staved off the potent visitors the rest of the route, 33-29.

"Wille garnered seven points, but his main feature was the manner in which he controlled the boards and put the stops to the Chiefs' 6'10" skyscraper — Don Slocum."

Grant succumbs twice to Palatine

Palatine teams did not have much trouble taking a double bill at Grant last Friday night. The varsity won 56-35 and the frosh-sophs were victors 42-32. Highlighting the varsity game was Klein's 20 points and Steinbrinck's 19. Waznik got nine, Mair six, and Sievers two for all the Palatine scoring. The Pirates led 28-17 at half time and were never in trouble.

The frosh-sophs ran up a 25-11 half time margin and though outscored 14-10 in the third quarter had the game well under control. Don Zoellick had a very good night as he scored 14 points while Vogt had nine to top Palatine. Stob had 11 for Grant.

Ohio State vs. NU, Notre Dame vs DePaul this Saturday night

Ohio State's championship-bound cagers come to the Stadium Saturday night to take on mediocre Northwestern while Notre Dame tests DePaul in the tenth college doubleheader of the season.

The Ohioans boast Bob Schnittker, high scoring Big Ten offensive star, who will be out to regain the conference scoring lead. The Ohio player had a larger total but a smaller average than Don Rehfeldt of Wisconsin as of Wednesday of this week.

Almost 19,000 fans, including 7,000 from Peoria saw Wisconsin take NU and Bradley defeat DePaul last Saturday at the Stadium. With Ohio on tap for this week, plus Notre Dame, a good 14,000 crowd should appear.

Barrington takes Antioch easily

Card frosh beat Leyden

by RON PRELLBERG

A sparkling cage victory clinched the hopes of the Leyden frosh in a hard fought four quarter scramble with Leyden towering over the visiting Cardinal yearling five, 39-32, on the Leyden court. A total of 22 fouls confronted the local quintet at the close of the final frame, 10 of which were responsible for the extinction of two Card regulars from their lineup for the second half. Herb Gorder led the Arlington scoring column by pitching in 5 from the field and 1 from the charity line. Dave Proper bypassed Herb by 2 and thus attached his 13 markers to the home squad cause in a determined effort to win.

Through the shooting ability of Dick McAuliffe, Herb Gorder, and Johnny Eakins the Red Birds were able to claim a 6 tally margin for the termination of the opening frame, 12-6. Local rebounding hopes suffered a severe shock when in the first period 4 personals were chalked up against Dick McAuliffe, Card center, enabling the Leydenites to overtake their opponents in the second period, 17-14.

ALL TROUBLES were laid aside by the local cagers as they advanced their way into a 3-marker third period advantage, but approximately 2 minutes later the Leyden cagers, burning with revenge, notched 13 points for the final period, compared to the Cards 3. Dave Proper filled in the main link in Leyden's inspiring chain of eventful final segment offensive plays as Herb Gorder did his utmost to make good the Cardinal cause.

Niles junior cagers defeat Barrington

by DAN WINGER

The Nilehi Junior Trojans defeated the Barrington Bronchos 27 to 24 on Wednesday, February 8, at Nilehi.

The Trojans came from behind to avenge a defeat handed them by the Broncs last December 14, when they were defeated 49 to 27.

The main factor in the victory of the Trojans was that they played a zone-type defense, one which Barrington evidently didn't have the experience to combat successfully, said Coach Harold Isaacson. "The zone also set us up for a number of rebounds which were essential for the victory."

It was the fifth win for the Trojans against five losses. Bob Richter and Rodger Doyle led the scoring of the Trojans with 8 points each. Dave Hechmiller, of the Broncs, led the scoring on either team with 9.

Palatine rolls over Grant with eyes on Bisons

Bisons gain 4 point lead, retain it to beat Palatine

Saturday night in the battle for second place Bensenville and Palatine split their double bill and as a result the teams are tied for second in both divisions. Bensenville took the varsity game 47-42 to move up even with the Pirates in the standings. Palatine frosh - sophs squeezed out a 28-27 decision on Don Kincaid's last second free throw and moved up on even terms in the rankings with the Bisons. In as much as Palatine plays undefeated Barrington teams while Bensenville meets second division Wauconda teams in the remaining games next week, the odds are all in favor of Barrington taking undisputed second place in both divisions.

Palatine's defense folded up under the pressure of the smooth working Bison forward line Saturday night and Bensenville took a 12-8 frist quarter lead which they never relinquished. Then Brown, Bison guard, hit three long shots in the first half at critical points when it appeared that Palatine might overtake the DuPage boys.

A 25-20 first half score was turned into a third quarter rout as Bensenville scored 16 points to Palatine's seven. Anderson, Brown, and Shaft led this third period onslaught. Shaft scored nine points after replacing Egly who fouled out. Palatine rallied well in the last quarter when Waznik moved to center as Steinbrinck fouled out and Klein started driving to the basket.

The scheduled scoring duel between Anderson of Bensenville, and Klein, Palatine, found Klein with 20 points and Anderson with 13 giving the Palatine boy a two point lead with one game to go. Bensenville was a much improved team over the outfit which nosed out the Pirates earlier in the season.

Frosh-Sophs win on free throws.

In a very close ball game Palatine Frosh-Sophs nipped Bensenville, 28-27, on a final second free thrown by Kincaid. Bensenville led 6-4 the first quarter, 15-14 at the half and 21-20 at the third period mark. Palatine had a two point lead with 10 seconds to play when Palm stole the ball from Day in the backcourt, shot a basket, and was fouled. With the score tied his free-shot missed and Kincaid drove down the floor and was fouled just before the final gong. He calmly sank the charity shot and the game was over. Don Buenzow's 16 points including eight straight free throws was a high point of the game. Palatine made 12 of 15 free throws and therein lies the story of why they won.

ence in basketball and Lake Forest is not in the first division but both entertain hopes of being in the running next year. Lake Forest loses only Roger Robertson by graduation while Woodstock has their team back intact for another season, including the league's second high scorer, Ralph Stork. Crystal Lake, Zion, and Grayslake, the leading teams will suffer severe inroads on their material by graduation.

Former Bison star dies suddenly

Jack Escorcia, spark plug of a conference championship lightweight team back in the days of the old Northwest Conference and one of the top scorers in the league in his day as a varsity performer, died suddenly in Jacksonville, Illinois, recently of a heart attack.

After high school days Jack enrolled at Illinois Normal and was a star tennis player there. After graduation he coached with great success at Arenzville and Virginia where he turned out phenomenal basketball teams in very small schools. Jack was a great competitor.

Though handicapped by a crippled arm, he developed great basket shooting ability and was fast and a good ball handler. Three of his team mates on the title winning Bison team are also gone. Jack, like his teammate Baumgartner, came from the Bensenville orphan's home. He was a credit to the home, Bensenville high school and the teaching and coaching profession.

His untimely death was a shock to all who knew him. We pay tribute to a fine young man and a real sportsman who came up the hard way.

Barrington sets free throw record

At Northbrook Saturday night Barrington set what we believe is a Northwest Conference record. The Bronchos made 28 free throws out of 34 tries. The Vikings evidently tried to use fouling as their main defense, but it did not pay, for Barrington was hot at the charity line. In addition Northbrook lost three regulars on fouls.

Free throws beat Northbrook

by WARNER BACHAR

The Barrington Broncos won their thirteenth conference game in as many starts last Friday by a score of 58 to 42. The Bronco Frosh-Soph produced the same record by a score of 55 to 30.

The Vikings started an uprising in the second quarter which put the score at 26-21 in favor of the Broncos at the end of that period. The first-quarter score was 20 to 11 in the victor's favor. After the half the Vikings never threatened Barringtons lead again, and the Broncos finished with a 16-point advantage.

Northbrook's inaccuracy to make free throws was the main reason they lost the game. The Vikings made 8 out of 23 free throws while Barrington dropped in 28 out of 32 free throws. The Vikings out-pointed the Broncos on field goals—17 baskets to 15 baskets.

Rodney, Hacker, and Armanetti tied for scoring honors with 12 points each.

The Bronco's Frosh-Soph ran over their opponents in an easy-going game. Scoring honors were taken by Landwehr with 16 points and Cochran with 14 points.

Antioch will travel to Northbrook this Friday to wind up their basketball season.

Ela rallies to edge Antioch, 36-33

Ela came from behind in the second half to nip Antioch Saturday night 36-33 in a close ball game. Ela's frosh-sophs won easily 45-32. The Bears had trouble hitting the loop in the first half, trailing 16-9 at the intermission. They tied the count in the third period and won in the final minute. Poeschal scored the tying basket.

Grever put the Bears one point to the good with a free throw, and Poeschal iced the game away with another shot from the field. As on Friday when they each scored 15 points to rout Wauconda,, it was Poeschal and Geary with eight points apiece who stood out for Ela. T. Haviland of Antioch was top scorer of the game with 12 points.

Nilehi frosh-soph swimmers win

by RICHARD VOSS

The Nilehi frosh-soph swim team splashed their way to victory over the Mustangs of Morton High on Tuesday, February 7. In taking their sixth meet of the season, the Frosh-sophs took five first positions and broke two school records.

Don Larson went the distance in the 50-yard crawl in 27 seconds flat, clipping two-tenths of a second off his previous school record. Fred Dussay churned through the 50-yard back stroke in 33.7 seconds, slicing three-tenths of a second off his previous school record.

Wauconda tops Grant by one

Wauconda split two games over the week end, losing to Ela Friday night, 59-40, and edging Grant in a thriller Saturday night, 41-40.

Outstanding for the victors in the Grant contest was Steiner, who notched 19 points. Nolan was held to three and two. For Grant Buchal led the way with an even dozen, while Gothard's eleven were close.

The Wauconda five was ahead at the intermission, 23-21, and increased that lead one bucket the third stanza. An 11-8 final quarter wasn't enough for the Fox Lake five to overtake the home team.

GEARY and Poeschal played good ball for Ela Friday night when the Lake Zurich five rolled out a 59-40 victory. Both boys swished the hoops for "five and five" for 30 scores, while Prouty added eleven.

For Wauconda it was Steiner again who sank twelve points. The game was very rough, with 42 personals being called. Both squads substituted freely.

Cardinals regain victory trail with two wins

Arlington five surprises in Mooseheart tilt

by RON PRELLBERG

The Arlington Heights Cardinals after not appearing on the home court since January 7, dusted off their white home uniforms last Friday night and staged one of the better performances yet displayed by our local five in a spine tingling 39-28 win over the Red Ramblers of Mooseheart. Harry Childress, Rambler guard, who entered the game with a 24 tally average, seemed to provide the Cards with sufficient worry before the opening quarter but as time progressed, Bob Fasick quickly eliminated the local fears by holding his renown opponent to 13 markers. The 8 and 7 point leads had by the visitors in the first and second periods gave the home squad plenty to fight over the following half and this they did as only a three tally margin was had by the visitors at the end of the third frame.

Arlington again banked on their second half comeback strength when the Cards found themselves an 8 marker first period underdog, 14-6. A pair of field goals each were notched in the opening two minutes of the ball game before Mooseheart sprung unexpectedly out in front and carded 10 more before the period ended. A tense feeling could be detected among the local players through their deliberate and slow movements the second frame and not much was done to release this feeling when only 1 marker was whittled from their opponents lead of 8, 21-14. Harry Childress spearheaded the Mooseheart first-half attack with his entire 13 while Gordon Busse and Bill Morrison did likewise for the Red Birds with 5 and 4 respectively.

DO OR DIE was the motto taken on by the local quintet the second half as the Cardinals fought fiercely in the third and fourth periods to gain a 9-5 decision the third and a 16-2 advantage the next. The local ambition began to appear suddenly in the third frame when the local Cardinals decided to let loose and went on through the period to narrow the visitors' margin to 3, 26-23. A 16 marker fourth period outburst sent the Cards to the locker room in fine spirits but left the Ramblers brooding over a mere two tallies in their favor for the same segment. Bob Evans, local high scorer with 12, emerged the dominant participant in the final frame by taking advantage of 1 set up and 2 tip-ins for a total of 7, 3 baskets and a free throw. This concluded the second victory of the night in the local behalf as a 35-30 trouncing was handed the Mooseheart sophs in a preliminary contest.

Another indication of Red Bird ability came to the local fans through a preliminary tilt in which a hard driving Cardinal frosh-soph. squad overpowered the visiting Ramblers, 35-30. Arlington led all the way and managed to outpoint their opponents for all but the fourth frame, when they permitted 3 markers to be cut from their lead. Jay Vawter and Phil Knoeppel contributed eagerly to the local cause by notching 16 and 12 to make up for more than half the Heights' 35 total.

THE ARLINGTON first period margin of 2 was quite weak and as the end of the second frame approached the Cardinals still were holding on by the skin of their teeth, 15-12. The speedy and deceptive ball handling of Carl Chors, Rambler guard, netted Carl and his mates a fine 3 baskets and a free throw to which the latter attached 10 more markers by Chors.

The first steps toward victory were taken by the young Cards in the third period and continued until late in the final frame when the local hopes were given a twist as their opponents produced 13 tallies for this period compared to the 10 of the Red Birds. The 4 baskets by Vawter of Heights headed their countering list for the second half but fell 2 short of the 4 baskets and 2 free tosses garnered by Chors.

4th period dash puts game on ice for locals

by RON PRELLBERG

The Arlington Cardinals, playing without the assistance of three able-bodied members, one of which was a Red Bird regular, threw aside their handicap and went on to triumph over the highly improved St. Edward's five on the Elgin Armory court last Saturday night, 44-38. This victory bestowed upon the Cardinals its second win of the week end and set their present record at 7 wins in 17 starts. A 17-point fourth period provided the winning margin for the locals as they entered this period with a feeble 2 marker advantage.

Don Larsen and Gordon Busse, local center and guard respectively, were the two outstanding boosters of the Cardinal final segment rally by pouring in 6 and 4 for this frame and by extending their aggressive play through the other periods they managed to emmerge with 9 and 13 for their four quarter totals. The Cardinals hope to continue their winning streak this week when they travel to Maine Twp. High School in Des Plaines Friday night and then take on the mighty Crystal Lake quintet at home the next night.

A SUDDEN Cardinal advance was noticed in the opening frame when the Cards notched 1 field attempt and a charity toss before the home squad was allowed to tally. The local domination continued on until, with a minute remaining in the first quarter, a 9-8 margin in favor of St. Eds slipped through the Card defense.

The effective employment of the Red Bird screening system in the second frame helped the local five in running up a 1 tally, 17-16 half-time lead. The victors scoring hopes were centered around Gordon Busse for the opening half, while the St. Edward's five banked on Bob Gannon to pull them through.

A see-saw battle took place in the third frame with the local mates finally emerging with a 27-25 margin. Bob Evans, Junior forward, took a leading role in the local third period with 2 from the field to his credit but a series of unnecessary fouls followed giving the home charges 6 out of 8 free goal attempts. The able advice of Coach Gene Bell appeared to remedy the situation as the Cards took to the court for the fourth and deciding quarter. Hard rebounding and sure shots left the Cards to enter the final two minutes with an 11-marker advantage and when a too late comeback by the St. Edward squad appeared in the remaining minutes the local margin was only whittled to 6, 44-38.

AN ARLINGTON frosh-soph squad was not so fortunate as their big brothers when they fell behind from the second frame on and were not able to recover, thus permitting the St. Eds' sophs to gain a 35-32 decision. The spirited play of Ed Collins and Jim Intravartolo, Cardinal forwards, had its place among the local victory outlook as Ed notched 7 for the locals and Jim 8. Arlington took an early lead of 8-5 but began to relax and found a 19-16 advantage favoring the victors in the second, a 25-21 St Eds' lead in the third and a final 35-32 the fourth period.

An 8-5 first period onslaught favored the Cards which would not have been possible unless Ronnie Grace and Bob Chamberlain had not stepped in for their mates and contributed the markers necessary to rout their opponents. As the game increased in rapidity the Cards began to lose control of the ball and defensive rebounds thus making way for 14 tallies to be notched by the home squad and only 8 by the locals.

A determined stand to avoid a loss was taken by the St. Edward five and as the bell tolled the close of the third period, 6 more counters were added to their second frame lead of 19-16. The locals failed to add but 5 more to their first half total in the third period by accounting for 2 baskets and 1 from the charity line. Arlington, realizing a probable loss, was quick in its comeback but not fast enough even though they outpointed their opponents in the final frame, 11-10, setting the score at 35-32 Elgin.

Income tax hints —

Many individuals fail to report income from which there is no withholding because they think the money received represents a gift. Much erroneous information has been given as to what constitutes taxable income. This is true of those who receive tips such as waiters, taxi drivers, beauty operators, bell hops, porters on trains, attendants in clubs, doormen, etc. Tips are fully taxable, because they are given for a service rendered and as recognition of such service. They are not gifts which are given for personal pleasure.

The Bureau of Internal Revenue has made investigations on which to base the determination of the amount employees in specific activities receive as tips, and in such cases, it was necessary to assess tax on their income tax returns to cover the omission of such tips. In addition to the tax, interest was added from the due date of the return to date of payment. In some cases this worked a hardship, but negligence in reporting such income is no excuse.

Bonuses received by employees are also fully taxable and are given because a service has been rendered for the benefit of the employer.

Radio contests

One of the most popular forms of advertising by many corporations is that of guessing contests, written or verbal. If you win a cash award, the full amount must be reported as income, particularly by radio broadcast and television stations. If you win merchandise, jewelry or household equipment, you must report as income the market value of the goods you receive.

If you win a trip by plane, boat or train, with all expenses paid at a hotel upon arrival at your destination, you must report the regular rates for such travel land notel expense as income. Remember, that the Bureau and local federal tax office are informed of these winnings.

All gambling winnings in excess of the losses from gambling must be reported. Uncle Sam is very much interested in income whether from a legitimate source or not, since all income is fully taxable, regardless of the source. However, you may never claim as a deduction on your return, the excess of gambling losses over your gambling gains, since Uncle Sam is unwilling to allow personal losses. Such loss is entirely personal. But you may claim gambling losses which are offset by an equal amount of gambling gains received in the same taxable year.

The winnings from check pools, football, baseball, hockey, horse racing and other types of pools, less the amount you invested in such pools, are taxable. This should interest many thousands of citizens who are contributing to these and other types of pools regularly.

The houses, automobiles, furs and other items or cash you win through purchase of chances, less the cost of the chances you purchased during the year, are taxable. The winnings of articles other than cash must be reported at the fair market value, less the cost of the chances purchased. This means the value of such merchandise in legitimate business and not your estimate.

There is one exception to this rule and that is for winners of the Pot of Gold radio program. Since these winners render no service or competition and merely answer the telephone, the prize is considered a gift.

Urban Dwellers

In 1790, only 5 per cent of the United States population lived in urban communities. By 1890 this has risen to 35 per cent and by 1940 to nearly 57 per cent.

Catholic women to meet next week

Under theme of "Holy Year—The Return of All Mankind to the Divine Plan" Northwest District of the Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women will meet at St. JosephParish, 1747 Lake ave. Wilmette, Thursday, Feb. 23 at 2:00 p. m. Mrs. A. Giannini, 4847 Greenleaf, Skokie, district president will preside.

Mrs. Edmund J. Sullivan, 14426 Wabash ave., Riverdale, archdiocesan president, will address the meeting under subject of "You and Holy Year." Also listed as speakers are Rev. Thomas J. Fitzgerald, ACCW assistant director, who will discuss the development of the ACCW Decency Crusade, a continuing program of elimination of objectionable comics, pocket-size books, and magazines.

Appeal for return of March of Dimes cards

Thousands of March of Dimes coin cards were sent to the people of Cook County early in January. Though the cards are being returned at the rate of 4000 to 6000 a day, many thousands still remain in some man's pocket, some woman's purse, or on the hall table . . . waiting to be mailed.

The need for money is great. During 1949, Cook County Chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis paid out $350,000 for care of 1,389 victims of polio. The chapter's funds are entirely exhausted.

Village Theatre's first production a success

Several hundred persons viewed the first production, "Night Must Fall," of the Village Theatre players, which was given recently at the South school, Arlington Heights.

The play was well cast and was presented without the aid of a prompter, which is unusual for an amateur group. Especially good in their roles were: Lucile Staahl, as the invalid aunt, Mrs. Bramson; Ruth Waldbillig, as Olivia Grayne, frustrated niece of Mrs. Bramson; and Doug Anderson, who so cleverly portrayed Danny.

However, all the players are to be commended, including Paul Breitsprecher, who as Hubert, appeared on the stage for the first time in his life. The English setting of the play called for English accents, which many of the cast spoke without a flaw.

Hazel McElhose, who was in charge of costumes, had the cast looking very English in their attire. Other members of the production staff also did a fine job to make the play the success it was.

Village Theatre, Inc., are now working on plans for their spring production.

Patti Boyles receives DAR award at Arlington

Patti Boyles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Boyles of Arlington Heights, has been chosen by her classmates and instructors at Arlington Heights Township high school to receive the annual D.A.R. award.

This honor, one of the highest which a senior girl may receive, is given each year to the senior girl who is judged to excel in dependability, service and leadership. The final selection of the recipient is made by the senior class advisers from three candidates elected by the senior class. The other girls honored by being selected as candidates are Bonnie Peterson and Carol Faulstich.

One girl from each high school in every state is chosen to receive the award. Names of the Illinois winners are sent to Springfield, where, sometime in March, one girl is chosen to receive the state award of a $100 United States Saving Bond. The presentation of the award to Miss Boyles will be made formally by Mrs K. R. Gregory of the local chapter of the D.A.R. at a high school assembly in the near future.

Patti his been outstanding in high school affairs for four years. During her senior year she has served as editor-in-chief of the Cardinal, high school newspaper. She has been prominent in affairs of the Class of '50 of which she is now the secretary. She has also been active in the Girls' Club, serving as vice-president during her junior year. Last spring she was honored by election to the National Honor Society and to Quill and Scroll, honorary journalistic organization. Next fall she plans to attend Denison University where she will major in education.

NW scout council executive board discusses finances, national jamboree

by ARNOLD HATCH

Twenty-four members of N. W. S. Council executive board met at the Des Plaines Village Hall, January 31, to transact such business as appeared on the agenda.

Douglas Armstrong, Finance chairman, advises that the finance drives for operating funds of NWS Council will run concurrently with Scout Anniversary week, which starts February 6, in Skokie and Blackhawk Districts and later in District 1 and Main Ridge. Des Plaines has completed their Community Chest drive which provided $5000 as their share to Scouting.

William Kratt, Council President, sent letters out before Christmas, asking for contributions to Camp Napawan, the outdoor camp in Wisconsin. He has received several replies enclosing amounts ranging from $5, $10, and $25. Also a couple of pledges of $5 monthly. All camp creditors have been paid now except one or two who he hopes to settle with soon.

Al Voight representing the American Legion in Park Ridge agreed to act as a committee of one to see what can be done about paying the $1100 overdue on the Scout swimming pier at Camp Napawan in Wisconsin.

Otto Harz, camping co-chairman, reports that the program of the Camporee which will be held June 10, 11 and 12th at Camp Dan Beard is well under way, with Eric Church and T. R. Smith heading up the Camporee committee. Any one that has a lumber wagon that they don't need would be doing the Scouts a good turn if they would notify either of the above camping committee members. It is to be used for a chuck wagon at the Camporee.

Stan Huntington, Scout Executive, said that one Troop of Scouts with Les McAuliffe as leader will attend the Jamboree at Valley Forge. The 3 day preliminary training which is required of all will be given at Valley Forge. Thatcher Woods, DuPage, Oak Plaines, West Suburban, and Rainbow Councils will combine with N. W. S. Council, each having at least one Scout troop and its leader. Trainsportation will be on the B and O railroad under the guidance of Henry Richter, Eric Church and T. R. Smith. All Scouts and Scouters attending Jamboree as part of N. W. S. Council must all leave at the same time and return at the same time No exceptions permitted. Trains leave June 25th returning July 9th. Total cost for each Scout is $110 which includes a 1½ day side trip to Washington.

Hatch, Publicity chairman, asked that the editors of the newspapers carrying Scout publicity be invited to attend a Sunday program at Camp Napawan, Wisconsin after the camp has been formally opened. More about this in the future.

Marty Hapeman, Advancement chairman, favors the Troop Court of Honor and Troop Board of Review rather than the District Court of Honor, to such an extent that he feels it should be given a fair trial throughout the Council.

Cecil Nixon, Commissioner, is rounding out his commissioner staff, having called a meeting at which time Fred Collins, District Advancement chairman, will discuss the Troop Court of Honor and Troop Board of Review as it is carried on in the Algonquin District.

William Zeibell, Health and Safety chairman, and his committee have the First Aid programs all lined up so that the Troop contests will be finished in February, the District in March and the finals in April. A new First Aid Badge will be ready soon. An emergency First Aid Corps is under consideration and will go ahead if Des Plaines city council approves the organization. It will be open only to qualified Scouts who will receive special First Aid training. Its purpose is to stand ready to help the police and fire department in case of catastrophe.

Wally DeBuhr, training chr., thinks there is a definite need for a basic training course for Explorer Scouts. Plans for a course in Basic Scout training, also a Scoutmasters training course are all complete.

Stan Huntington reminds all that the Scout Widows Ball will be held February 17 at the Lincoln school gym., Park Ridge. The Council Annual Review and dinner will be held at Arlington Heights March 15.

Among the executive board members present are:

William Kratt, Stan Huntington, Doug Armstrong, Cecil Nixon, Jim Rose, Harold Love, John Speer, Otto Harz, William Zeibell, Frank Griffin, Bart Meays, Fred Smith, Marty Hapeman, Wally DeBuhr, Byron Foote, Henry Wetmore, Frank Peschke, Tony Girard, Roy Schmidt, George Sheppard, Al Voight, Blair Plymton, Ralph Clabaugh, Arnold Hatch.

Douglas Armstrong finance chairman of N. W. Suburban Council

by ARNOLD HATCH

Douglas Armstrong, of Des Plaines, was appointed Council Finance Chairman at a recent N. W. Suburban Council meeting to fill the position vacated by William Kratt when he accepted the Council presidency. N. W. Suburban Council includes Barrington, Lake Zurich, Palatine, Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, Prospect Heights, Des Plaines, Wheeling, Park Ridge, Lincolnwood, Morton Grove and Skokie.

Mr. Armstrong recently served with Milton Tuttle as co-chairman on the Des Plaines Community Chest Drive which netted Des Plaines $15,500 and $5,000 of this amount to the operating fund of N.W.S. Council as Algonquin District's share necessary in carrying on the Cubbing and Scouting program in N.W.S. Council.

It has been truly said that when one wants a job done, not only done, but well done, he should seek out a busy man. Douglas is just such a person. For instance he is Finance chairman of Algonquin District, Institutional representative of Troop 42 which is sponsored by the First Congregational church of Des Plaines, was Troop Committee chairman of Troop 42 for three years and has two sons, Dick and Ralph, who are members of Troop 42. 15 and 11 years respectively. Dick is Senior Patrol Leader and Ralph is a Tenderfoot Scout. Douglas is a Trustee of the First Congregational church of Des Plaines, teaches a Sunday School class there, plays golf, bowls with his co-workers at the plant and in his spare time plays bridge.

Mr. Armstrong is associated with the Pyramid Mouldings Inc., Chicago, as their plant superintendent, a position that he has held for six years.

JUST DOGS

by DAVE TERRILL

Winter Shipping

It has come to the attention of your editor that many people are just a little afraid of shipping a dog by air, train, or what have you, during the winter months. In most cases the individual has had little or no experience with the subject, however, the editor can assure those with faint hearts that the shipping of dogs during the winter months for the purpose of breeding or perhaps selling to a new owner is not something that is to be avoided if the occasion arises.

A few things to be remembered include such things as plenty of straw or wood shavings in the bottom of the shipping crate—and they should be not less than eight inches deep—and also the crate arranged so that air can only come in through the sides, quite near the top so as to avoid all drafts.

Many a kennel owner in this area ships dogs throughout the winter months with little or no trouble keeping in mind that the distance to be traveled by the dog and how it will be shipped governs the provisions that should be made for the dog's safe arrival at its destination.

International

Speaking of dogs and shipping reminds your editor that more than one individual throughout the country is starting to think about the great International Kennel Club show to be held at the International Amphitheater in Chicago Saturday and Sunday, March 25 and 26.

Everyone who thinks he has a good dog is setting his sights on this event which is the largest all-breed dog show held in the middle west, year in, year out, and also ranks as the third or fourth largest show held in the United States.

The event will include obedience and retriever trials, both of which have been quite popular in past shows held by the club.

Barks and Bays

In England, in wet weather, they have found the use of sawdust most valuable for quickly and thoroughly drying wet dogs. Many a kennel keeps a large box of dry sawdust on hand, and each dog, on returning from exercise, is rubbed down with the dust all over his coat, with care taken to avoid the eyes. The dog shakes it out afterwards on the floor, so says an article in Gaines Dog Research.

P. S.—Yes, I know that sawdust in the house and on the living room rug will cause trouble in which case you had better stick to an old bath towel.

Suburban girls' deans to attend special meet

Miss Hazel Beverly, girls' counselor at Arlington Heights Township high school, will attend the February meeting of the Suburban Deans at the College Club February 16. Mrs. Elizabeth Breckenridge, director of Community Project for the Aged, will talk on "How to Plan for Later Life."

Preceding the meeting, committee chairmen will meet to discuss plans for the Girls' Club Spring Conference to be held at Thornton Fractional high school March 25. Over 300 girls from suburban high schools have been invited to attend this conference. Miss Beverly is chairman of the Art Committee.

Realtors meet

The regular monthly meeting of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors was held at the Pantry, Park Ridge, February 9. Theodore G. Koerner, president, who recently returned from attending the annual Real Estate Brokers Conference in Washington, D. C., gave a complete report of his trip.

Following Mr. Koerner's report, a "Panel Discussion" was conducted by the members of the Board. The topic for discussion "Present Market Conditions and Trends in the Near Future" was announced by Chairman Lester R. Rumpf, of Barrington. The members of the panel included Roy L. LaLonde, Palatine; Dewitt M. Purdy, Park Ridge; and S. C. Wessel, Des Plaines. A lively question and answer period created a great deal of enthusiasm. Every member seemed very optimistic in his opinion regarding the Real Estate business in the near future.

Arctic Travel

Experts on Arctic travel say that the successful explorer should be equal to walking as far in a day as his dogs can pull the sledge and camp equipment. Even when rations are short for both man and animal, the practical advice is not to skimp on food for the dog team, since weakness in the dogs will only result in slowing all in progress of the expedition toward the safety of a settlement.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of beloved husband, father, grandfather and great grandfather, Joseph Allen, who passed away two years ago, February 15, 1948.

God knew that you were suffering,
He knew you were in pain;
He knew you never could get well
In this world again.
He saw the road was getting rough,
The hills were hard to climb,
So he closed your weary eyelids
And whispered, peace be thine.
A loving father so true and kind,
No friend on earth like you we find.
For all of us you did your best,
May God grant you eternal rest.

Loving wife, Elsie Allen and the family.

Auto industry puts out 6¼ million cars

The 53 automobile manufacturers in the United States set a new production record in 1949 by turning out 6,250,000 cars, trucks, and busses.

According to J. Morris Jones, Managing Editor of The World Book Encyclopedia, this tops the previous record, set in 1929, by almost a million vehicles.

The year 1949 saw many other records tumble. All-time highs were reached in the number of vehicles in use, total highway travel, and special taxes paid by motorists.

The only declines reported by the encyclopedia's research department were in the manufacture of replacement parts for older vehicles, and a drop in automobile exports to foreign lands.

Clabaugh, Knoeppel to attend school officials convention in Atlantic City

Local teacher to present paper on science studies

R. E. Clabaugh and LeRoy Knoeppel, superintendent and principal respectively of the Arlington Heights grade schools and high school, will leave next week to attend a convention of the American Association of School Administrators, to be held in Atlantic City, New Jersey.

Both will also attend special separate meetings. Mr. Knoeppel has been invited to take part in an Aviation Education Conference to be held February 23-24. The principal purposes of this meeting are: To formulate an over-all educational policy in regard to aviation education, to establish an Aviation Education Coordinating Committee, and to define the functions of this committee.

HE AND MR. Clabaugh will attend a conference in New York City at the New York University School of Education, February 24 and 25. This is the Twenty-third Annual Junior High School Conference and will deal with program planning to meet early adolescent needs. Featured will be a series of films and teaching aids on atomic energy, human relations, and the United Nations.

The AASA convention begins February 25 and is based on the subject "Education, Dynamic of Democracy." Nelson O. Lowry, science teacher at the Arlington Heights high school, will present a paper, "Changes in the Science Curriculum to Meet Needs of Modern Students;" at the Atlantic City meeting. He will attend the National Research Association of Science Teachers section of the convention, February 26 through 28.

One of the important features of the AASA will be the exhibits of school equipment, supplies and textbooks, which will be on display in the world's largest auditorium and convention hall on the Boardwalk, Atlantic City. Space for these exhibits has been sold out for months, and the displays should be especially enlightening to administrators.

AMONG THE featured participants at the convention will be Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt; John L. Bracken, president of AASA; Margaret Chase Smith, US Senator from Maine; Beardsley Rumi, New York City; Norman Cousins, editor Saturday Review of Literature, New York City; and Roy E. Larsen, president of Time, Inc., New York City.

Mr. Clabaugh and Mr. Knoeppel will be accompanied by their wives,

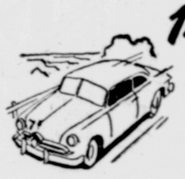
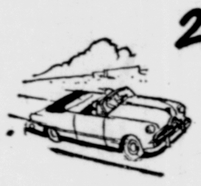
50,000 Miles-No Wear!



1. Driven "Twice Around the World!" For 50,000 killing miles, six brand-new cars raced over the hot desert along the Mexican border . . . testing the wear-fighting qualities of amazing Conoco Super Motor Oil. At the end of 50,000 miles of continuous driving, engines showed no wear of any consequence . . . in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth of an inch on cylinders and crankshafts. Startling proof—factory finishing marks were still visible on piston rings!



2. New-Car Mileage for 5 Years! This punishing road test—equal to 5 years' normal mileage—proved, as nothing else could, that Conoco Super Motor Oil, with proper crankcase drains and regular care, can keep your new car new! Gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles of the test was as good as for the first 5,000 miles . . . actually there was an average difference for the fleet of only 4/100 of a mile per gallon!

3. New-Car Power! Quicker Starts! Yes—the extra protection of Conoco Super Motor Oil keeps that factory flash . . . that showroom smoothness . . . year after year after year! Conoco Super Motor Oil's exclusive ability to OIL-PLATE metal surfaces makes your engine last longer, perform better, use less gasoline and oil! Conoco Super Motor Oil virtually stops wear before it starts . . . keeps your engine new and clean. Conoco Super Motor Oil has proved itself to be the great new modern wear-fighter!

Ask northwestsiders to use income tax office at Des Plaines postoffice

Income tax payers were advised to use neighborhood offices in Cook county to avoid waiting in line at the Court House if they want help in preparing their 1949 returns due by March 15. Those asking aid in the northwest area are directed to the internal revenue office in the basement of the Des Plaines postoffice building.

The branch offices operate the same hours as downtown from 8:30 a. m. to 5:15 p. m. daily. The offices are not open on Saturday. Evening and week end hours are not contemplated.

Presenting the Younger Generation

Roy Rogers

Smiling David Havard, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Havard of 416 W. Willow st., Arlington Heights, is 5½, has brown hair, blue eyes, and a vivid imagination.

When questioned about the personality of her young son, Mrs. Havard replied, "He is active, tempermental, and loves to imagine he is different persons and does what they do." "He's a cowboy now—Roy Rogers himself," she laughed.

His mother told a story of how a friend took care of David for an hour one afternoon. "He didn't sit still for more than one minute and didn't play with the same toy more than two minutes," she said.

This active youngster is in the kindergarten at the North school and says the bus ride is the "best part of school."

Domestic Daughter

David's sister, Edith Ann, is pictured next. She will be four in May and has auburn hair and brown eyes.

In contrast to her brother, this happy lass is quiet and domestic. She likes to help her mother take care of their baby brother, Johnny, who is almost one year old.

Edith Ann has a dog, Suzie, who is considered a very important member of the family, and a little straw hat that goes wherever she goes. This straw hat is worn in the house, outside, during meals—everywhere!

Quiet Lad

Blond and blue eyed Jay Coffey is the 7 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Coffey of 414 E. Rockwell, Arlington Heights.

A second grader in South school, he is best described as the quiet type.

Of great interest to this youngster is a model speed boat his father is building for him. A motor will be installed in it and big plans to take it up to the lake next summer have been made.

Jay is also looking forward to joining the Cub Scouts when he is eight years old.

Always Bubbling

Bright-eyed Kathleen is Jay's little sister. She'll be three years old February 21, and has blond hair and sparkling blue eyes.

"Kathleen is always bubbling over—we just can't keep her quiet," laughed her mother. This brother and sister get along well together and are fond of each other.

"Boby Coo" doll is the most precious plaything of this personable miss.

C&NW self-propelled car to be tested on suburban line

The RDC self-propelled railway passenger car recently constructed by the Budd Manufacturing Company is undergoing its first tests in commuter service this week when the Chicago and North Western Railway Company placed it in operation on its suburban lines.

This was revealed by R. L. Williams, president of the railway company, who said the car was placed in operation Tuesday and will continue in test service for the entire week on all three suburban lines of the railroad. The car is all stainless steel in construction, powered by diesel engines with a new type torque converter power transmission and automatically air conditioned.

The self-propelled car seats 99 passengers in its full length. The two 275-horsepower engines which power the car, a 250-gallon fuel tank, batteries and cooling water tanks are all mounted under the floor. Engine cooling-water radiators are located in a "blister" on the roof. A lavatory and electric locker are placed at each end of the car.

The car is so designed that it can be operated singly or with other cars of its type. Only the one car will be used in the suburban tests.

Origin of "Plumber"

The plumber, who would be lost without lead pipe and solder, takes his name from the Latin plumbum, meaning lead.

Glenview to allow dumping to continue

Glenview's Village Board definitely made known its position in the Lutter Clayhole Dump Controversy at the Board meeting when it chose a compromise by which the City of Chicago may continue to dump garbage on the Lutter property until the hole is filled. The favorable vote enables the Metropolitan Disposal company of Chicago, which performs the dumping job under contract with Chicago, toit will continue the effort keep its trucks rolling to the dump, unless court action should upset the Village verdict.

The compromise plan is that proposed by the Rotary club. It asks that dumping continue, that abandoned buildings in the dumping area be removed and that the area be rezoned from heavy to light manufacturing. Also that Lutter Brick and the Metropolitan Disposal company pay the court costs.

The Citizens' Action association, which recently declared for independent action without Village cooperation, announced that

Origin of Canary

The canary, holding its popularity as a caged songbird, takes its name from its native locale, the Canary islands. The name stems from canis, the Latin word for dog, perhaps because of the dog-head shape of Tenerife, largest isle of this Spanish group.

WE EARNESTLY NEED HOMES TO SELL

It is not necessary for you to list your property with us exclusively. If you have a 2 -3-or 4 bedroom home to sell, we have a list of sincere buyers waiting for us to call them.

January business transfers to Chicago have brought us many buyers who MUST find homes. This annual shift of business personnel creates a market sometimes not to be seen again during the year.

Perhaps you would like to call us and talk it over—there certainly will be no obligation on your part. If you are considering the sale of your property, and your price is within market range, we are certain we can be of service to you today.

Tide Helps Congregation

At Englehard, N. C., on US 264, stands a church which got there with an assist from nature. The congregation of Providence M. E. church sought to buy a lot upon which to build a new edifice, but the owner refused to sell. A storm came up, spilled Pamlico Sound over into the town; the tide picked up the old church building and deposited it on the recalcitrant man's disputed lot. Believing this to be an omen, he promptly deeded the property to the church . . . free. The old building now stands behind the new brick one.

Ask $1700 an acre for O'Hare field tract; jury sets price $400

The City won a major victory Friday in a condemnation jury verdict.

The jury of two women and ten men in Circuit Judge Dennis J. Normoyle's court returned a verdict of $117,833 for property being condemned for O'Hare field expansion near Des Plaines.

The property consists of two farms totalling 286 acres owned by brothers William and Fred Harbecke, dairy farmers since 1919.

They introduced testimony that the farms, with 36 buildings on the land, is worth $488,000. City attorneys admitted that the farmers had been offered high prices for their land.

The verdict is considered a victory because the property was acquired at less than expected and because other farmers in the area have been watching this court case before coming to agreement with the city on the purchase of their land.

Once again the ingenuity of Ice Capades is brought out with the presentation of Walt Disney's Toy Shop, with Pluto, Dumbo, Pinocchio, Donald Duck, Mickey Mouse and all the other beloved Disney characters cavorting happily about the ice.

Other intriguing group numbers are Winged Iridescence, Jungle Jive and Teen Age Party. There are 29 numbers in all.

Many of the favorites of past Ice Capades edition are there—Bobby Specht, "The Old Smoothies," Johnny Lettengarver, Jackson and Lynam, Helen Davidson, Charles Slagle, and Patti Phillippi.

Our Aim: To Fear God, Tell The Truth, and Make Money

Palatine visitor compares prices of today with those of 1840

1840—10 days work to earn a pair of shoes 1950—One day's work to earn a pair of shoes

People who complain about high prices today should talk to Isaac F. Wortman, 81, of Shelbyville, Illinois.

Mr. Wortman is now spending some time with his daughter, Mrs. Herbert Meyer of Palatine, who has been teaching at the Hubbard school near Lake Zurich for 20 years. He presented Paddock Publications with a copy of his home-town newspaper, the Shelby County Leader, which is celebrating its 110th year of publication. In the paper are listed prices of 100 years ago.

In those days men's heavy work shoes could be purchased for 95c and women's high button shoes for 75c. Yard goods sold for 3c a yard.

THE PRICE of a meal was slightly less than now as beef sold at 2½c per pound, bacon, 2½c per pound, butter, 4c per pound, and potatoes at 25c per bushel. Farmers received 6c for a chicken and 2c a dozen for eggs.

Those who were extravagant enough to buy imported items paid 10c for a pair of shoelaces and 10c for a bar of soap.

These prices were low, but so were wages then. A farm hand received $3.00 a month and board and a woman $1.50 a month and board. At this rate it took 10 days of a man's pay to buy a pair of work shoes and 15 days of a woman's pay for a pair of high button shoes. If a woman wanted a new dress to wear with her new shoes it would cost at least 25c more.

MR. WORTMAN, who earned 50c for a 10 hour day on his first job, pointed out that the prices of today were not too high, but naturally increased as the earning power of the people increased. Today you can earn a pair of shoes in one or two days. Prices are higher but the wages earned are more than enough to compensate for the difference.

Mr. Wortman's family has been in Shelbyville since his grandfather purchased a farm from the government in 1830. The farm is still in the family.

Mr. Wortman is 81 years old, but has not yet retired from active participation in business affairs. He left Friday for Shelbyville to attend the annual meeting of the Shelby County Land Bank, of which he is president.

Duffers can brush up on their golf game with a lightweight plastic practice ball which flies like a real one but travels only a tenth as far. The idea is to help you correct that slice or hook by letting you follow the ball's flight from start to finish . . . A virtually airtight mustard pot promises to keep mustard moist for weeks. JUST AROUND THE CORNER

Dear Jane:

One look through the window at Old Man Blizzard convinced young Edward this morning that he and the other members of the school safety patrol they would be in for a busy day. "We'll wear our new weather-proof coats and hats today!" he gleefully exclaimed.

I'm wondering, as I begin my letter to you, if I'll be able to mail it. The wind is whipping around the house, carrying fine snow that appears to be drifting along the fence lines. I've got the trusty old jeep all set in four wheel drive position, however, and I'll don my ski suit and boots and make a try for it. If I can manage to get out to the highway, the rest of the way to town should be comparatively easy to cover, for the highway is generally kept free by the snow plows.

Mentioning the "safety patrol" reminds me to ask if you know whether or not such a system has been set in operation at Roselle. It seemed to me it was badly needed there.

Perhaps, if you are not too familiar with the aims and functions of this system, you might be interested in the article Edward brought from school when safety patrol was begun at his school last fall.

"The primary aims of the patrol are: To protect children from automobile accidents while they are on their way to and from school. To aid in teaching children to guard themselves against traffic accidents. To foster qualities of leadership and good citizenship in patrol members.

"The oath of the school safety patrol is: "I earnestly promise to serve faithfully as a member of the safety patrol of my school, to perform my duties as instructed, to always guide my own conduct toward automobile traffic so as to set a proper example for other children, and to guard myself from accidents at all times."

"Members of patrols are selected for their aptitude, dependability, interest in their task, popularity with their fellow students, and scholastic standing. Distinguished by white Sam Browne belts, before and after classes, to prevent their school mates from entering the street when it is not safe, and to permit them to cross the street only during lulls in traffic. They are forbidden to direct vehicular traffic or to accompany their charges across the street.

"The effectiveness of the patrols is well illustrated by traffic fatality records. From 1922, the year in which the Chicago Motor Club first organized patrols, to 1946, the death rate for children aged 5 to 14 years decreased 62%. During the same period, the death rate among all other ages increased 43%. The credit for this remarkable record of school children is owing directly to the work of the patrols and to safety instructions by the teachers and parents.

"Lest you fear that your child will be exposed to unusual traffic hazards in spite of the fact that members of the patrol are prohibited from escorting boys and girls across the street, the following record made by patrol members indicates that they are outstanding in their ability to protect themselves. Records covering 102,300 boy and girl patrol members, during a 32 month period, reveal that only eleven received injuries of all characters such as dog bites, falls, etc., while actually on duty, and that none of these injuries was so serious as to necessitate absence from school for a period longer than one day.

"With your indorsement, your child will shoulder responsibilities which will strengthen his character, permit him to render service to his fellow students, and give him a greater understanding of the hazards in street traffic."

Until next week, with love,
Mary.

HOBBIES Yours and Mine

BY BETTY AINSLIE

One of the most popular classes offered every Fall and Winter for adults is the millinery course. Every Monday, from 7:30 to 10:30 p. m., amid bright straw cloth material and the smell of banana oil—strictly for stiffening hats—these women concoct new and thrilling spring bonnets.

Everyone speedily gets acquainted with everyone else and Mrs. Walter Patzlaff, the attractive and clever teacher, explains the newest colors and decorations for spring hats. Or at least it is the gay and flattering straws that this semesters group is working on.

Mrs. R. J. Healy has already completed a clever flamingo straw hat with the same color in the tiny straw acorns adding a new touch to the brim. Now she is starting a gold burlap hat.

Mrs. Patzlaff showed me one of the burlap material that she'd designed and made herself. It's a bright bit of spring in golden color trimmed with yellow felt and tiny red berries.

Each one of the gals try on various styles of hat forms until she finds one that is becoming to her. Then she decides on straw or cloth and trimmings. Believe it or not with the help of Mrs. Patzlaff she makes not one, but many hats to match various suits or dresses in her wardrobe.

Mrs. Paul Gallagher is making a gold straw. And Mrs. J. Klapp was busy drying a dusty rose straw sailor which will be trimmed with delicate purple grapes.

"I'm making this one as a gift for my mother," Mrs. Klapp smiled, "and this color will be just right for her."

A navy blue straw is the project of Mrs. L. Austin, and Mrs. Douglas Smith is also making one in the popular navy straw shade.

This spring miniature fruit will be very popular. Small bunches of bananas and clusters of bright peppers are taking the place of flower trimming. So gals in this class not only learn to make hats, but get a preview of the popular colors and materials that will be worn this Spring.

Mrs. William Walton was busy stitching bright red straw around the head form she'd selected. And Mrs. F. J. Freeman is making two cloche hats—one in pink and one in chartreuse straw cloth which drapes and forms easily.

Mrs. Richard Brown will have a navy blue and white pique hat when she completes the bonnet on which she is working.

The class also remodels some of their old hats—take apart brims and cut off decorations. With a change here and there they've a new looking chapeau

One thing I discovered here was that everyone seemed to be having a wonderful time talking together. Even if you've never made a hat in your life this is the class in which to learn. After all there is nothing like a new hat to lift a gal's spirits — and think how much more wonderful it would be to whip up your own head-gear. So keep in mind the millinery course for learning a fun hobby next fall.

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

BY LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

Show a person that you respect their point of view, believe them to be honest, fair and generous, and they will do everything within reason to keep you thinking that way. Of all the people I know, there is not a single one who does not openly or secretly cherish the respect and admiration of others.

There are some people who have a perverted sense of what respect and admiration are. Among these are the ones who seek to be feared or envied. They are the ones with the Jehovah Complexes who imagine themselves little gods sitting on the thrones of their own self righteousness, whether they are thieves, racketeers, murderers, or would be "big shots" holding some position of authority in government or business. They are the hardest to deal with because their reasoning is off the beaten path, and completely self-centered. Most people of this type can count their friends on one hand, but need an adding machine to tally their enemies.

Joe Wentworth is a man of this type. He is a very real person, even though this is not his real name. He will "never back down" in an argument. He says it is bad policy to admit a mistake, but the thing to do is "give them hell."

And, of course, he generally "gets hell" in return. But he never learns, and perhaps he never will.

Such acti p, he insists, wins the respect of others. What it really wins is their dislike and contempt. It is a law of life as constant and unchanging as the times tables.

It costs nothing to be fair with others, to admit and explain your errors if you can, express regrets and ask the forgiveness or praise sincerely is only right and christian. People can forgive a mistake, but they always resent an insult. Forgiveness shows fairness, generosity, and places them in a position where they can feel important. Asking forgiveness appeals to their sympathy and their knowledge that they, too, make mistakes. Most people will treat you as they would like to be treated in similar circumstances.

You will never lose the respect of others by showing sincerely that you think them wise, brave, honest, fair minded and generous. They always are, from their point of view. That isn't the way that the human mind works. If you show respect and honor for a person, their reaction is to respect and honor you ninety-nine times out of a hundred. Because, you see, they know that you show good judgment. They are sure that you are right.

TALES of the STREET

—T. C. HART

● A GOOD FRIEND IS GONE

One by one the old guard and the old timers are passing.

When Albert J. Kraemer, tax collector of Elk Grove township died last week a well known and well liked resident of this area passed over the great divide.

"Al" Kraemer was a friendly fellow always with a sunny disposition and always ready with a helping hand.

Many years ago "Al" operated a large coffee route through this part of the county and was known as the "coffee man." He knew every farmer and truck grower in the area and the friends he made in those days remained his friends.

During the last several years as tax collector of Elk Grove township "Al" continued to make friends and he was always ready and willing to be of any service possible to his constituents.

During his years as tax collector, a firm friendship developed between himself and collectors Annen of Wheeling township and Hart of Palatine township. "The three horsemen" the fellows down at the county building called the three northwest towns collectors, as they were always together when tax time came around and if one fellow showed up in one of the departments by himself the question would be "where are the other two?"

The three collectors had a fine team work and spirit of cooperation in their problems and duties and now the ranks of the "three horsemen" are broken with two left to carry on.

Mr. Kraemer also worked for some time in the county treasurer's office in the city and there again his sunny disposition and helpful manner made many friends.

A fine and simple tribute was paid Mr. Kraemer by one of the boys in the treasurer's office when he said, "Well, your good pal and our good friend is gone, he was a fine fellow. Al Kraemer wouldn't say or do anything that would ever hurt anyone else."

That tribute was a fitting one for Albert J. Kraemer. He was a good husband, a good friend, a good public official, a man with a genial sunny disposition who was a friend to all who knew him and his memory will live long in the hearts of those who are left behind.

This poem, "The House By the Side of the Road," by Sam Walter Foss which was read at Mr. Kraemer's funeral is a fitting tribute to "Al" and his philosophy of life.

The House by the Side of the Road

There are hermit souls that live withdrawn
In the place of their self content
There are souls like stars that dwell apart
In a fellowless firmament
There are pioneer souls that blaze their paths
Where highways never ran
But let me live by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.

Let me live in a house by the side of the road
Where the race of men go by—
The men who are good and the men who are bad
As good and as bad as I.
I would not sit in the scorner's seat
Or hurl the cynics ban—
Let me live in a house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.

I see from my house by the side of the road
By the side of the highway of life
The men who press with the ardor of hope
The men who are faint with the strife
But I turn not away from their smiles nor their tears
Both parts of an infinite plan
Let me live in a house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.

I know there are brook gladdened meadows ahead
And mountains of wearisome height
That the road passes on through the long afternoon
And stretches away to the night.
But still I rejoice when the travelers rejoice
And weep with the strangers that moan
Nor live in my house by the side of the road
Like a man who dwells alone.

Let me live in my house by the side of the road
It's here the race of men go by
They are good, they are bad, they are weak, they are strong, wise—foolish—so am I.
Then why should I sit in the scorner's seat
Or hurl the cynic's ban?
Let me live in my house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.

● THE FIRST ROBIN

The report of the first robin of 1950 comes to "Tales of the Street" from Mrs Irwin Ward of Wood Dale who reports that she and her husband saw the first robin of the season on the morning of January 31.

The juncos and starlings were gathered on the Ward porch waiting for their breakfast when right in the midst of the visiting flock appeared the first robing of the season, for the earliest robin appearance ever noted by the Wards.

Mrs. Ward says that seeing the first robin always brings a thrill even though she knows that when cherry time comes she won't have the same feeling about the red breasted cherry raiders.

● SPRING TRAINING

It's about time for the baseball teams to take off on those spring training trips to get ready for the long season ahead.

And it begins to look as if Don Foster, owner of the Palatine theater and sponsor of the Palatine theater softball team would have to be looking toward the south for a spring training camp for his big squad.

Don is lining up his team and has about thirty-five prospects who want to play for him.

That's a big squad and it looks like Don would have to have a training camp some place and play a lot of interclub games before he settles on his final line up for the season.

That big squad sure shows a healthy condition of things in the softball field, and shows that a lot of the young fellows are anxious to play ball this summer.

● THE RED WINGS

If baseball is getting into the air, it won't be long before we begin to hear some news of the Arlington Red Wings, that hardy team that year in and year out furnishes so much good amusement at Recreation park.

Those Red Wings are capable of playing all kinds of ball that there is in the book and that's one thing that makes them so interesting. The fans never know what's going to happen next.

Mike Oeflein, their veteran collector, said the other day that he hadn't been signed up yet but we'll bet he will be. Mike is as much a part of Red Wing activity as the team or the ball park. He's the best collector that ever came over the pike and no team that could have his services would ever go without them.

If the Red Wings don't hook him to a 1950 contract right fast we know a park district league that would be mighty happy to land him.

● SEIP CACTUS

Mrs. Charles Seip has one of those weather predicting cactus plants which early in the season persisted in not blooming.

Just before the last snow storm and cold snap Jack Seip asked us, "What does it mean if one of those cactus plants blooms now?" "It means cold weather and snow" we told him, and along came both within a few days.

As long as that thing wouldn't bloom early in the winter maybe it's getting ready now to tell us how much cold and snow we can expect now that Spring should be just around the corner.

● CAMPERS

Folks who came into Palatine loop Saturday morning were surprised to see a line of pup tents and a headquarters tent pitched in Abelman Park with camp fires burning merrily all along the row.

People thought at first that some army of occupation had landed and taken over the town but it was the Boy Scouts doing their stuff in public where everyone could see them.

One fellow said, "They're supposed to cook their own breakfast—this I've got to see, my nephew is in that gang' and around the house at home he just can't do a thing."

We never heard how breakfast came out but Clarence Uhrhammer said that the boys had a dinner of pork chops and all the trimmings. The boys surely had a fine day for their encampment and their stunt created a lot of favorable comment from folks that were down town.

● DEADLINES

March 1 is the deadline for auto owners. By that date they are supposed to have their state plates or be subject to a check up by State police.

So there are a few days left for the public to avail itself of that fast DePue state plate service that will bring your state plates to you in fast time and enable you to beat the deadline.

March 1 is also the deadline for those Village auto stickers, bargains whereby the autoist saves a dollar by getting his sticker before March 1.

After the 1st the State will check up and the full charge will be put on by the Village.

The days of grace are about over, get those auto plates, and Village stickers before the deadline and before the State and local officers start to get tough.

For the residents of the Township area outside the Village limits those stickers are free.

BIRD WATCHER

Many a time when reading F. J. Freeman's "Journal of a Bird Watcher," I have vowed to write you in appreciation of his articles, but let the matter go till "another day." However, today is the day. Mr. Freeman's articles arouse interest in the bird life around us, tell us about areast in our own vicinity that are full of bird life—tell us about the possibilities of studying bird life in our own back yards.

There are many people in this area who work with Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, who certainly need a better knowledge of the natural wonders that abound in order to pass it on to their troops. There are any number of others who need a hobby.

Thank you again for featuring his column. I clip it and paste it in my scrapbook for reference. He shares his love of birds in a very friendly informal fashion.

A HOUSE DIVIDED

This is the third of a series of articles by the Palatine Commander of The American Legion on his organization's views on that part of the Report of the Hoover Commission dealing with veteran affairs.

The one-stop service agency—the Veterans Administration—now handling veterans affairs without any run-around, would be split up into five separate government bureaus if the proposal of the Hoover Commission is adopted.

In the name of Economy the VA would be dismembered into the following separate federal agencies.

1—United Medical Administration—to handle veteran hospital and medical services.

2—Department of the Interior—to handle hospital construction.

3—Veterans' Insurance Corporation—to handle all insurance matters.

4—Housing and Home Finance Agency—to handle home loans only.

5—Veterans Administration — to handle remaining veteran services.

This is the equivalent of telling General Motors "you may retain your administrative functions but you will have to divorce yourself from the other operations of your corporation: Ford will take over your production; Engineering will go to Studebaker; your distribution will be assumed by Chrysler; and your sales will be handled by Kaiser-Frazer;"

That is substantially what the Hoover Commission recommends so far as the Veterans Administration is concerned.

The American Legion's greatest monument today is the Veterans Administration. It was solely responsible for bringing into being a single agency handling veterans affairs exclusively. Over the years it has kept a watchful eye over all VA operations.

The American Legion has been working in the field of veteran rehabilitation for 31 years. It knows more about veteran affairs than any other organization.

Yet the American Legion was not even consulted by the task force of the Hoover commission which recommended the dismemberment of the VA. That recommendation was made by the task force members who had no previous experience in the veteran affairs; the American Legion knows from bitter experience that the carving up of the VA cannot possibly result in economy? It can only lead to unprecedented confusion. Duplication and waste.

RAILROAD FARES

Pertaining to railroad costs per a Mr. Bob and R. L. Williams, president C&NW Ry.:

Your discussions, pertaining to an increase in railway fares has been entertaining, but in one respect very vague. Mr. Williams has been very conservative in his remarks. That is as it should be respecting his activities in railroad affairs.

Now do you know, fellow commuters, that you and I have been traveling at a very cheap rate. Compared to other localities in which I have traveled by railway? Do you realize, fellow commuters, you are only actually paying 1.3 cents per mile to and from your homes to your place of employment? Do you realize that the profits, if any, must cover a part of the cost of right of way maintenance, at union rates per hour, union price rates for personnel? Technically experienced freight personnel are also union hourly rate folks

Out of the revenue of the actual cost of all skilled labor and equipment, from road bed to train movements must come a certain percentage of profit for those who made it possible to travel to and from our places of employment by railway.

Highway transports and airline freighters, who pay no tribute to the maintenance of right of ways, depending upon the property taxpayers to carry the burden, are making great inroads into the revenue of the railroads.

Towns and villages along the right of way are continually clamoring for more and better improvements, for safety and comfort.

These improvements cannot be bought in a dime store, but cost hundreds of thousands of dollars for equipment and installation. Palatine is no exception. Someone must be sportsman enough to help pay for any deficits incurred, so why squawk over a small raise in rates of transportation.

Let's be grateful and thankful to the supreme intelligence of all the universe who guides our faiths and lives, and has made it possible through extended intelligence to have freedoms and transportations such as we enjoy in these United States.

William H. Schwankoff
Palatine.

NEED HOMES

Last summer the Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society appealed to your newspaper and a selected list of other weekly newspapers in the Chicago area for help in finding boarding homes for dependent and neglected babies in our care.

As a result of the stories which you and other editors so kindly published, this child welfare agency received several hundred applications from generous families in Chicago and suburban communities, helping us very greatly in our work.

We want to thank you very sincerely for this practical and fruitful public service by your publication.

Now we would like to turn to you once more for help — this time with an appeal for boarding homes for boys. We very seriously need to find some families in your community who will offer a home to a boy who has no family with whom he can live.

The Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society, as you know, is a private, non-sectarian, Red Feather agency, providing foster home care for dependent and neglected children. Its work is entirely dependent upon the support and cooperation of individuals and groups throughout the state.

Browsing About

with JAN KRAMER

For Cooks - an inspiring book to supplement your shelf

A fascinating cook book has recently appeared in gift shops and at book sellers, one whose purpose is to inspire as well as teach. For browsing, it is the most interesting I have ever found.

James A. Beard has compiled 1217 recipes for his Fireside Cook Book and Alice and Martin Provensen have drawn over 400 pictures in color The illustrations are entirely different from the lushly set tables photographed for the cookery sections of women's magazines — these are gay and witty sketches in a French provincial style of the fox eyeing the grapes, the mouse carrying the cheese, the cooks spoiling the broth. The inside of the paper cover is a print for framing, done in the same style. They must be seen to be appreciated.

This is not a basic cook book in the way my old stand-bys, Rombauer's Joy of Cooking and Fannie Merritt Farmer's plain and serviceable Boston Cooking School Cook Book are basic. In the first place, you can't find any recipe you want in The Fireside Cook Book. It is top-heavy with meat, game, fowl and has a good section on vegetables and salads. But the dessert recipes are mostly fruit, with only a few pages for cakes—no cookies, no candy. There is a complete section on seasonings, a comprehensive chapter on wines.

The meat sections give the basic recipe—steak, roast, or chops, and then list a number of variations. Mr. Beard does not stop with the recipe, but suggests what foods will complement the prepared dish, and cautions against certain combinations. His commentary is interesting and full of suggestions. I hurried to take my olive oil out of the refrigerator, and made a mental note that the next time I serve frozen peas I will place the frozen block on a piece of melted butter without additional water.

For those with an outdoor fireplace, there is an encouraging section on outdoor cookery with additinal recipes to supplement the usual steaks, chops and chicken. There are menus for warm and cold weather, for quick meals, for foreign meals.

Above all, the book is beautiful. I keep it in an obvious spot in the living room, rather than thrown in a corner of the kitchen with my other battered and grease-splattered volumes. When one is discouraged and ready to open a can of tomato soup and make cheese sandwiches for supper, here is the inspiration to do something startling for the family. There is even a menu entitled "A Dinner for a Gloomy Day When All the Leftovers are Gone!"

Ask $315,000 for auto accident at Palatine Elmhurst road

A seventeen year-old Steinmetz high school girl filed suit in Circuit Court Wednesday, asking $315,000 damages from the father of a teen age boy who smashed into another car last May 18. The girl is paralyzed from the waist down since the accident.

She is Joan Schumaker, of 2326 North Austin ave. The suit was filed in her behalf by her mother, Mrs. Elvira Schumaker. Named as defendants were Frederick Pahl, of 3401 N. Rutherford ave., an optometrist, and his nineteen year-old son, Clifton.

The suit states that at the time of the accident there were three other teen-age girls, all attending Steinmetz high school, in the car with Joan and Clifton. The suit charges that Clifton drove the car in a careless manner.

The accident occurred at Elmhurst and Palatine roads, near Mount Prospect. Young Pahl crashed into the auto of Harry C. Niehus, of Madison, Wis., who was killed instantly.

The suit claims that the father was negligent in permitting an immature person to operate his car.

Thieves blow safe at Marengo high school

Frightened armed thieves took $500 frm the safe they had just blown at Marengo Community high school Monday night but abandoned their car containing about $1600 in front of the school.

E. C. Nichols, principal of the high school, discovered the burglary. He found that entry had been gained by breaking a window in the office. From there the robbers had gone into the office of the secretary and blown open the safe and taken the money, amounting to about $500.00.

Apparently the thieves had gotten frightened while still working on the safe as they ran out through the girls' locker room and escaped. They abandoned their car, a black Plymouth, which contained more than $2,000 packed in several black bags, a white bag, and a brown bag.

The money had been taken in burglaries at two Rockford and one Belvidere school.

Prospect Heights Appliances shows 1950 Frigidaires

Brilliantly styled 1950 Frigidaire refrigerators of three types, four series and 10 sizes, plus revolutionary 30-inch ranges featuring extra-large full width ovens—highlight extensive new product lines being introduced this year, according to Max Rhodes, of Prospect Heights Appliances.

The new products were shown for the first time during a special store display arranged by Rhodes. New and improved products introduced currently include a refrigerator line comprised of models affording four to 17 cubic feet of storage capacity. Two compact economy ranges equipped with the new extra-large ovens, new large capacity food freezers and an improved electric dehumidifier.

Particularly pleasing to the eye, and at the same time more convenient, is the new "target door latch," which lends a distinctive appearance to the new Frigidaire models. In addition, some models feature full-length doors, enhancing the graceful, smooth-flowing lines of the smart new cabinet styling. There are also new toe plates, ventilated and recessed, of chromium or harmonizing grey, depending upon the model. The interiors of all models are finished in white porcelain with acid resisting porcelain on food compartment floors. Cabinet exteriors are finished in Dulux with some also available in Lifetime porcelain.

Food storage flexibility is the keynote of the new Frigidaire refrigerator line. Frozen food storage capacities of various models range from over 70 pounds in larger refrigerators to more than 15 pounds in smallest size models. All models have double-easy Quickube ice trays designed to slide out of freezing compartments smoothly and easily, releasing ice cubes instantly.

All models in the line are equipped with improved, compact, sealed rotary Meter-Miser compressors which provide more cold with no more current, and are covered by a five-year protection plan. Cabinets are of sturdy one-piece construction and have improved insulation.

U.S. Growing Trees

In the United States today far more trees are being grown than have ever been grown before. For the first time in forest history the growth of trees of all sizes nearly equals the withdrawal of trees by fire, insects, disease and wind plus those harvested by man.

One farmer gets $330 per acre from legume-grass field

As Cook county joins other counties in the state in a program to get a bigger acreage of legumes and grass on farms, Farm Advisor C. A. Hughes reports that more and more evidence is piling up on the dollars- and-cents value of legume-grass hay and pasture.

Mr. Hughes says he has a report from Henderson county that a 9.2 acre pasture of alfalfa, bromegrass and Ladino returned $330 an acre last year in dairy and hog profits.

The farm is operated by Earl Brokaw and his son-in-law, John Peasley, Jr. The men applied 300 pounds of superphosphate to the field in 1946 and another 250 pounds in the spring of 1948 when they seeded it to the alfalfa, brome, Ladino mixture in an oats nurse crop.

From April 25 to August 25 last year the pasture carried 12 dairy cows and 14 litters of pigs. Even though two of the cows were dry for two months, the herd produced 1,911.7 pounds of butterfat, valued at $1,820.12. The cows were fed 12.570 pounds of grain that cost $314-25, leaving a pasture profit of $1,505.87.

THE HOGS on the pasture were fed corn and supplement which cost $1,750. When the hogs came off the pasture, they were valued $3,050, making a difference of $1,550 over the cost of the corn and supplement.

The $1,501 profit for the dairy cows plus $1,550 for the hogs gives a total of $3,055. On a per-acre basis, that amounts to more than $330 to be credited to pasture, labor, overhead and interest on investment.

Mr. Hughes says many other farmers in this county and in other parts of the state have had similar experiences with good legume-grass pastures. Any farmers interested in increasing their acreage of legumes and grasses may want to get in touch with the farm adviser for help in planning rotations, seeding, mixtures and methods for renovating an old pasture or seeding a new one.

Don't overwork your dairy cows

Trying to get a calf from a cow every ten or eleven months is a good way to invite trouble into your dairy herd.

Dr. L. E. Boley, University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine, says the surest way to get maximum use out of a cow is to allow a year for each calf. Even vigorous cows should have a 60-day rest period.

Breeding a cow at the earliest possible date after calving causes trouble sooner or later, regardless of the method used. It often leads to early abortion, weak calves and sterility.

Usually you'll have a better chance for a calf on the first try if you wait at least 60 days. Breeding too soon after calving often results in nothing more than inflammation of the reproductive tract.

SOMETIMES it's advisable to wait more than 90 days before breeding. A great deal depends upon such things as health of the cow, feed, age and care.

Breeding a cow early and expecting her to produce large quantities of milk while supplying food to an unborn calf is hard work for any cow. Even the best cows can seldom stand this treatment for more than two years without having trouble.

If trouble with difficult breeding breaks out in your herd, it's important that you get proper help. Prompt attention and treatment by your veterinarian may help to save cows that might otherwise be sold.

Haymaking, Like Many Other Farm Chores, Meeting Master In Power

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

Many farm chores have been done "the hard way" for generations. For choring methods have been slow to change. Of late years, however, agricultural science has made considerable progress in bringing farm jobs more in line with industrial production operations.

One of the most recent farm chores to be mechanized is haymaking. As a result, the job of pitching hay by hand has about run its course. Hay—long, chopped and baled—now is being loaded and stored mechanically with the aid of a number of different power machines. Such equipment as pickup balers, buck rakes and hay loaders are doing the job in the field, while electrically operated hay hoists, conveyors and blowers are taking over the storage problems.

Experimental all-electric hay-drying unit. Air, warmed by large heating units, is drawn through metal tunnel into adjoining small mow by motor-driven fan.

In addition, much of the hay is being cured in the mow—minus the need for a warm "haying sun" and without the worries of damaging rains. It is possible today to cut hay in the morning, rake it into windrows for preliminary curing and store it in the barn that afternoon for final finishing.

Standard mow systems employ large central ducts. These are laid down the center or along the sides of the barn and are connected at one end to an air chamber. Large fans or blowers discharge air into the ducts. The heavy volume of air moves from the duct into laterals or through a connecting slatted floor to remove excessive moisture from the hay. A week to 10 days usually is required to dry each layer. Hay is safe for storage when its moisture content has been brought down to 20%.

Fans and blowers generally are operated by 5 horsepower motors. The cost of curing varies from 75¢ to $1.50 per ton. Construction and equipment costs for a typical barn curing system averages from 25 to 35 cents per square foot of barn floor area.

Experiments also have been conducted in curing hay outside in the stack. These tests have been fairly successful when curing started soon after the hay was cut. Wooden "A" frame ducts are used when long and chopped hay are cured. Baled hay, however, can be stacked so as to form main ducts without the necessity of wooden supports. Power consumption for outside curing varies from 40 to 100 kwhr per ton.

Drying hay with heat, also, is in the experimental stage. Such systems, for average farms, at least, still run into considerable money, although results are proving satisfactory. Some of these driers have the oil burner, motor and fan mounted in one unit. Heat is generated outside the barn and is drawn inside by the fan. Costs of drying average about $1.50 per ton, and hay can be brought to top, storagable quality within a few minutes.

LAW on the FARM

Real covenants

Though the term "covenant" has a biblical flavor, it is also an important word in the law. In a sense it means simply a contract or binding agreement between two or more persons. But in a more correct legal sense it means a binding agreement that has been reduced to writing and, if the law so provides, sealed.

Real covenants are such agreements having to do with lands or rights in land. Many of them are regarded as "running with the land," meaning that they create a charge against the land. For example, if a man sells part of his farm and in the deed inserts an agreement (covenant) that he and his heirs and assignees will maintain the division fence between the two tracts, this binds his land, so to speak; and upon failure to perform the covenant, damages and costs could, if necessary, be secured by the enforcement of a claim against the original grantor's farm. The purchaser and his heirs, on the other hand, receive the "benefit" from the covenant, and this benefit is said to "run" with the title to their land. Other examples are agreements to maintain a water gap, repair drainage works or maintain a dam.

Deeds of city property frequently contain restrictive covenants with respect to the type of building permitted, and on the use and occupancy of structures erected on property subject to the "burden."

Covenants running with the land have been suggested as a means of preserving established soil conservation structures; for example, terraces, dams, or waterways which cross property lines, or which depend for their successful operation on the maintenance of similar structures on adjoining property.

Illinois law provides that when property is conveyed by warranty deed, certain covenants shall accompany its conveyance, whether or not they are expressed in the deed. These amount to guarantees on the part of the seller that he has a right to sell the property, that it is not encumbered (except as specified), that the buyer and his heirs shall enjoy peaceable possession and that he, the seller, will defend the title against persons who lawfully claim it.

The law referred to is in the Illinois Revised Statutes, Chapter 30, Section 8.

Breeders sale

The annual sale of the Illinois Shorthorn Breeders will be held at Normal, Ill., March 3. Mardan Farm, owned by Harry H. Knaack of Arlington Heights, are consigning two heifers, a red, Mardan Broahooks, and a roan, Beathon Miss Ramsden.

Keep Calm!

If fire breaks out and there is a panic-rush for the main exit, keep out of the crowd and attempt to find some other means of escape. Above all, keep calm!

New equipment saves labor in hog production

How can you save more pigs for each litter, control disease and infection in your swine herd, and get fast and efficient gains?

Farm Adviser C. A. Hughes says that answers to some of these problems are contained in Extension Circular 554, "Labor-Saving Hog Equipment."

Hog houses, self-feeders, and watering, brooding, and handling devices contribute to efficient and economical hog production, Mr. Hughes points out. Most operators are convinced of the value of convenient sanitary and labor-saving equipment.

SELF-FEEDERS are valuable because they save labor in feeding swine and because they promote rapid and efficient gains. Movable hog houses are inexpensive shelters which provide for better sanitation and disease control because they can be easily kept clean and moved to clean ground or pastures.

You may prefer a central farrowing house. You can supplement that with movable houses, pasture shades, fattening sheds and paved feedlots. The booklet shows many types and sizes of equipment, most of which you can make at home or buy prefabricated.

Ask the farm adviser for a free copy of "Hog Equipment" or write to the Department of Agricultural Engineering, University of Illinois, Urbana.

Check your barn for safety this winter

"One item that should be on every farmers' winter chore list is to check barn accident hazards," says Farm Adviser C. A. Hughes. "Before the rush of spring work starts, there should be plenty of time to spot them and see that they are removed."

Check your barn for loose objects or things that may cause falls. Remove high door sills, abrupt changes in floor levels, weak boards, protruding cleats or other tripping hazards. All floors should be solid, smooth and continuous.

Do some housecleaning. If alleyways or work areas are obstructed by feed, tools, harness, feed carts or other obstacles, set things in order. Don't work in the dark, see that dangerous corners and work centers are well lighted. Avoid storing loose materials overhead, and see that forks or other barn equipment is kept in a safe place.

Loft doors, feed chutes and ladders need special attention. A well-constructed stairway that has a hand rail and is kept clean provides the safest and easiest passage to hay mows. It is dangerous to use stairwells as feed chutes, because loose hay or straw makes footing uncertain. Separate feed chutes with guards above the loft floor are desirable.

Where a ladder is used, see that it extends well above the loft floor. It should also have stout, well-spaced rungs that are placed far enough from the wall for secure footing.

'Your federal income tax' book great help

Many businessmen could make impressive savings on their income taxes if they had a complete understanding of the numerous deductions to which they are entitled. Uncle Sam wants only what is due and nothing more. In most cases, it is not necessary to spend large fees for information or publications on income tax procedure.

For 25c (no stamps) businessmen can obtain from the Regional Office of the U. S. Department of Commerce, 332 S. Michigan ave., Chicago 4, the latest official income tax information from the Treasury Department ("Your Federal Income Tax"—138 pages, inculding a very well devised index). Not sold by field offices of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, the Commerce Department has made these books immediately available as a special service to businessmen in the mid-western area served by its Chicago office.

"Your Federal Income Tax" gives detailed facts covering deductions for business and non-business expense; depreciation on business property; bad debts; capital gains or losses; rentals; withholding of income tax from wages; installment sales; sales tax; contributions; dependents; husband and wife relationship respecting income tax returns

by W. L. GORDON

Words Often Misused

Do not say "Newspapers have a habit of printing larger editions on these days." It is better to say, "have a custom of printing larger editions."

Write, "This article is a criticism of John's," if John wrote it, or, "a criticism of John," if someone else wrote it about John.

Do not say, "I should of waited for her." Say, "I should have waited for her."

Do not write, "I wish to advise you that your order will be filled next week." Write, "I wish to inform you." The primary meaning of advise is "to give counsel, or to warn."

Do not say, "I have a bad pain in my back." It is better to say "I have a severe (or, an acute) pain in my back."

Do not say, "I can't help but pity her." Say, "I can't help pitying her."

Words Often Mispronounced

Chateau. Pronounce shato, a as in shall, o as in no, accent second syllable.

Boatswain. The nautical, and generally accepted pronunciation is bo-s'n, o as in no.

Nihilist. Pronounce ni-i-list, first i as in night, second and third i's as in it, accent first syllable.

Against. Pronounce a-genst, e as in men.

Cairn. Pronounce karn, a as in care.

Gesticulate. Pronounce the g as j, accent second syllable.

Words Often Misspelled

Gate (an opening); gait (manner of walking). Coerce; erce, not erse. Defalcation; fal, not fall nor faul. Accommodation; two c's, and two 's. Accessible; observe the two c's, two s's, and the i. Sarsaparillo; observe the sar.

Word Study

"Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

Censorious; addicted to censure; severe on others. (Pronounce second syllable so, and accent second syllable). "O that the censorious world would learn this wholesome rule, and with each other bear." — Haywood.

Homiletic; having the nature of a sermon. (Pronounce the o as in on, e as in let; accent follows the t). "His address was homilectic."

Stentorian; extremely loud. (Pronounce sten-to-ri-an, e as in men, o as in no, accent second syllable). "He raised his stentorian voice in command.

Reciprocal (noun); that which makes a return for something done or given. "Pleasure is a necessary reciprocal; no one feels, who does not at the same time give it."—Chesterfield.

Plenitude; fullness; abundance. "In the plenitude of its energy and power it swept all before it."

Excrescence; abnormal growth or increase (Pronounce second e as in credit, accent second syllable). "The trees, from being uplifted wild castles, became mere grey excrescences."—John Galsworthy.

Modern Etiquette

by ROBERTA LEE

Q. What is the correct order for the wedding party to proceed down the church aisle?

A. First the ushers, according to height, the shortest leading; then the bridesmaids, according to height; then the maid of honor; then the flower girl; and last the bride on her father's arm.

Q. Should the whole hand be dipped into the water when using a finger bowl at the table?

A. No; dip only the fingertips, and one hand at a time. Then dry the fingers with a napkin, on the lap.

Q. Is it correct for a woman to offer her hand when she is being introduced to a man?

A. It signifies friendliness when she does, but she may do as she wishes about this.

Q. What does one say when he has been connected with the wrong number over the telephone?

A. Do not, under any circumstances, snap at the person who answers the call. This shows an extreme lack of breeding. Apologize briefly by saying, "I am sorry, I have the wrong number."

Q. Does a bridegroom ever ask men other than his best man and ushers to his bachelor dinner?

A. Yes, if he wants to. He is privileged to ask any friends he chooses.

Q. Is it necessary to write "a bread and butter" letter when one has stayed only one night?

A. Yes; even for the one-night visit, such a letter is necessary.

Q. Is it considered proper for two business women, who share an apartment, to have men friends to dinner, and is it proper to put up the brother of one of the women for the night?

A. It certainly is, to both questions.

Q. If one has owed a letter to a friend for some time, is it proper to make apologies for one's tardiness when the letter is finally written?

A. It is much better to make that tardy letter entertaining rather than to weigh it down with a burden of apologies.

Q. Is it proper to invite friends or relatives who are in mourning to a wedding?

A. Certainly. They should not be ignored, but neither should they be expected to attend if they prefer not to do so.

Q. When invited to attend a christening, is it necessary for a guest to send a gift?

A. It is not obligatory, but it is quite often done.

'Gaslight' production of Des Plaines players runs this week

The Des Plaines Elks, as sponsors of the Des Plaines Theatre Guild production, Gaslight, present this exciting drama starting Thursday evening of this week and continuing thru Friday and Saturday at the Junior high auditorium. The curtain rises promptly at 8:30 each evening inasmuch as the suspense and plot of the play comes early in the production.

Gaslight is also known to many under the title of Angel Street which was the title used by the American stage productions when first presented in New York in 1942. However, more recently it has probably become better known under its original title of Gaslight as made into a movie featuring Charles Boyer and Ingrid Bergman. The play is a psychological drama with a deep play on mental reactions, intensive emotions and designed primarily for an adult audience.

Tickets are available from members of the Elks, Spiegler's and at the door on the evening of the performance.

Bits o' business

Consumer credit outstanding has climbed to record heights. It jumped to about $18.8 billion by the year's end, a 15 per cent boost over '48 marks. Car and television set sales accounted for almost half of the increase . . . Looks as if the picnic is over for America's automobile dealers—for the first time since 1941 the buyers' market is back. From here on the big emphasis will be on selling, not order-taking.

LENT BEGINS FEBRUARY 22

St. John tells us that shortly before Christ's passion certain Greeks, who had come to Jerusalem to worship at the Feast of the Passover, approached Philip and said: "Sir, we would see Jesus."

We too would see Jesus! We are often at wits end, leading lives of futility and frustration, on the verge of despair and collapse. We need Jesus. That is why we observe Lent and listen once more to the Lenten story of His suffering and death for our sins. Let us all say: "We would see Jesus" in the coming season of Lent.
